Figl Rules Out Austria Control By Communists

Chancellor Says Reds Too Few, High Offices Not Influenced

By MORRIS HELITZER

VIENNA, June 22 (INS).—Chancellor Leopold Figl declared today "there is no danger of the Communists taking power in Austria after the departure of occupation troops."

In an interview with International News Service regarding Big Four proposals aimed at speeding an Austrian peace treaty, the Chancellor listed these reasons for his confidence:

1. The Communists are too few; 2. Austrian administrative and executive organs of government such as the police are not influenced by the Austrian Communist Party; 3. Austria hopes to rebuild an army on the basis of the limited 50,000 total before any Allied troops withdraw.

INDEPENDENT COURSE

Figl reiterated Austria's intention of following an independent course in her foreign relations once Allied evaluation is achieved and said his little country is capable of recovery by 1952 when Marshall aid ends.

"At that time," he said, "Austria must be ready to stand on her own feet socially, economically and politically."

Under the Big Four agreement reached in Paris, Russia will get $150,000,000 and other economic rights to compensate for her release of vast plant installations the Soviets seized under their definition of "German assets" in the Potsdam Pact.

Figl said a total of 329 plants now under Soviet control would be returned to Austria under the Paris agreement which ignored Yugoslav territorial and financial claims.

Coast Guard Seeking Lost Sloop

SEATTLE, June 22 (AP).—Coast Guard headquarters reported today a search was under way in the San Juan Island area for a missing Seattle sailing sloop with three Seattle youths aboard.

The 21-foot craft, the Lady Fair, left Seattle Friday and was due back Sunday night. No reports have been received from it.

A plane and a Coast Guard patrol boat scouted the Anacortes-Friday Harbor-Orcas Island area today.

Saanich Council Orders Ban on Lawn-Sprinkling

Saanich Municipal Council at a special meeting last night clamped a ban on lawn-sprinkling throughout the municipality's water area between 7 a.m. and 10 p.m.

Regulations about garden-watering, apart from lawns, will remain as before. Odd-numbered houses water on odd days, even numbers on even days. Where there are no numbers, residents on the north and west side of streets water on even days; on south and east sides, odd days.

The new regulation takes effect immediately. It was drafted as an emergency solution for the "water-famine" which has left citizens in higher districts thirsty and bathless most of the day.

Council adopted this plan in preference to one suggested by municipal engineer H. D. Dawson, which would have split the population in four and allowed them to water every fourth day.

Reeve E. C. Warren warned against too drastic watering regulations. "If all the gardens were to dry up, it would create a terrific shortage of foodstuffs," he said.

"I don't water the lawn at all," joked Councillor L. H. Passmore. "I find if I water the lawn, the grass comes up and I have to cut it."

Council Plans Power Pump For Fire Truck

Saanich Council decided last night to spend $407 on alterations to its 28-gallon tank fire truck.

The change will involve building in a power take-off to pump water from the tank through the hose. The Austin pump now used for that purpose will then be unhooked and used to pump in water to the tank.

The veteran Wojax pump now used for outside pumping will be taken out of service.

TO DECIDE ON TRUCK

The municipality will decide later whether or not to buy a new 2,500-gallon tank truck for rural fire-fighting.

Fire Chief Joseph Law told a special meeting of the council last night that the new truck would cost some $9,000 and take two months to deliver. Earlier, he recommended its purchase.

Reeve E. C. Warren reminded the council that there is no money specifically set aside for a new truck in the estimates. If the money set aside for the new Shelbourne Street fire hall is used, construction of the hall will have to be postponed for another year, he warned.

Hold Koreans For Violation Of "Security"

SEOUL, June 22 (INS).—Five South Korean lawmakers were held in Seoul Military Prison today on charges of violating the republic's security law.

Police launched a widespread search for a sixth, described as the ringleader. He was identified as Kim Yak Soo.

Kim and five other members of the National Assembly (Parliament) last week submitted a petition to the United Nations Commission for Korea. In it they protested the continued existence of American and Soviet military missions in South and North Korea. They charged the missions were "just occupation in a different form."

BASIS OF ARRESTS

The South Korean Government's Information Office claimed that the arrests were based on alleged "dealings" between the men and the Communist-dominated Government of North Korea. An official said the Seoul regime had "definite proof" of the "dealings."

Ontario Farmers Pray for Rain

Ontario's drought, which has caused loss estimated at more than $100,000,000, continues unbroken in many parts of the Province after nearly four weeks. In the Stouffville district, these farmers, members of the Vivian Community Church, gathered in an informal group in a dry field to pray for rain.

Bogus Wire Causes Drop On Market

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, June 22 (AP).—A hoax telegram today caused a temporary sharp decline in gold-share and option prices on Johannesburg's two stock exchanges.

The telegram, purporting to come from a police official in Witwatersrand, said the recent rich Erfdeel gold strike in the Orange Free State had been discovered to be a fraud.

The Union Stock Exchange posted a notice and Chairman W. Wainer notified members of the exchange of the contents of the telegram. Within one minute, prices of options of Free State Gold Areas Ltd. fell from 11s 6d ($2.30) to 2s (40 cents) before Wainer ordered trading suspended.

At the Johannesburg Stock Exchange President W. J. Lamb notified police before informing the members. News of the telegram already had reached this exchange, however, and heavy selling ensued. Within 15 minutes Free State Gold Areas main shares fell from 16s 6d to 11s 3d and options from 11s 3d to 7s.

Normal trading resumed on both exchanges as soon as police exposed the fraud.

Peace Talks Bogged Down

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., June 22 (INS).—The United Nations Palestine Conciliation Commission reported tonight that current Arab-Israeli peace talks have bogged down over the priority to be assigned to the refugee and boundary questions.

The commission, in a report on the progress of the Palestine talks at Lausanne, Switzerland, said it is striving to get both sides to agree to a joint discussion of the resettlement of Arab refugees and Israel's boundaries.

Negotiations for a final peace settlement between Egypt, Trans-Jordan, Lebanon and Syria, on the one hand, and Israel, on the other, have been stalemated by Arab demands for an immediate settlement of the refugee question as opposed by Israel's insistance that boundaries be considered first.

Israel has maintained that the resettlement of Arab displaced persons in Zionist-held areas must await conclusion of a general peace settlement.

Will End Part Of Rail Strike

BERLIN, June 22 (AP).—Berlin's 14,000 anti-Communist railway strikers today agreed to lift the "little blockade" of the city's Western sectors without calling off the rest of their walkout.

Union leaders, however, admitted doubt that the Russian-controlled railway management would co-operate in the "emergency service" plan.

The strikers said they would restore West-Berlin's rail supply lines to normal in accordance with the wishes of the Big Four Foreign Ministers. The Big Four agreed in Paris that British, United States, French and Russian commanders in the four-power city were obligated to try to end the city's tangled transport problem.

The non-Communist union, U.G.O., called the strike five weeks ago.

A union spokesman said the decision to restore normal rail freight traffic to West Berlin without ending the strike means:

1. The Western sector elevated trains which carry nearly 1,000,000 passengers daily will remain stalled.

WILL NOT MOVE

2. Any rail freight consigned to the Russian zone will not move through the Western sectors, which the strikers control.

Following urgings from British and American officials the union admitted it was "obligated to establish emergency service immediately."

A union announcement said workmen would report to the freight yards tomorrow to make technical preparations for restoring normal traffic. By Friday, trains from Western Germany to Berlin actually will be moving through the yards toward unloading depots, the announcement added.

Soviet authorities control the rail system of West Berlin by virtue of a 1945 Four-Power agreement. Thus, the strike-snarled marshalling yards in West Berlin are an island in the Russian rail network.

Since the strike started May 21, residents of West Berlin have had to live on supplies brought in by truck, barge and airlift carriers.

BULLETINS

Tax Boost

LONDON, June 23 (Thursday) (CP). — The House of Commons early today approved an increase in the tax on football pools from 20 to 30 per cent. The increase was passed by a vote of 188 to 25 after Labor members had accused Britain's big football pool promoters of putting "organized mass pressure" on members of the House.

Reds Lose Seats

AMSTERDAM, June 22 (AP).—Netherlands Communists have lost almost half their seats on municipal councils throughout The Netherlands, it was disclosed tonight.

Delay Inquest In Slayings

VANCOUVER, June 22 (CP).—An inquest into the two-week-old deaths of elderly Mr. and Mrs. Michael Geluch in their South Vancouver bungalow, today was put over until Tuesday.

Detectives asked for the adjournment of the inquest, originally scheduled for tomorrow.

Two men are charged with murder in the slaying of the elderly couple. They are 37-year-old William Worobec and 34-year-old Walter Prestyko.

Firm to Mine Asbestos At New Site

MONTREAL, June 22 (CP).—Lewis H. Brown, chairman of the board of the Johns-Manville Company, announced here today that $10,000,000 originally to be spent for the development of the company's Asbestos, Que., property, would be used in connection with a new asbestos mine located near Larder Lake in Ontario.

The new mine, which he said would yield about twice the ore value as that mined at Asbestos, will receive some machinery now used at the Quebec plant. "Orders for the movement of the machinery were given today," he said.

Mr. Brown showed reporters pieces of the new asbestos fibre and said "It is among the best quality ore on this continent."

Discovery of the new asbestos deposit will have a direct influence on the four-month-old strike at Asbestos, Mr. Brown said.

Protest Move On Frontiers

BELGRADE, June 22 (Reuters).—Yugoslavia today protested to the Big Four powers against the rejection by the Council of Foreign Ministers of Yugoslav territorial claims on Austria.

A note handed by Vladmir Popovich, assistant foreign minister, to the Belgrade representatives of the four powers insisted that the Council of Foreign Ministers should "reexamine the Yugoslav claims against Austria and take a just decision."

27 of 43 Aboard Plane Hurt in Take-off Crash

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 22 (INS).—Twenty-seven of 43 persons aboard an American Airlines plane en route from Dallas to New York were injured today when the ship crashed on its take-off at Memphis.

Only four of the passengers and crew were seriously hurt.

The crash, which occurred within a mile of the Kennedy Veterans' Hospital, was blamed on engine failure.

First Officer Norman Lundeen, of Memphis, told International News Service the right motor of the plane cut out a few seconds after the ship was airborne.

CRAWL THROUGH WINDOWS

The plane captain, Ed Hatch, also of Memphis, was at the controls. Lundeen and Hatch crawled through the windows of the cockpit.

Hatch was hospitalized with cuts and bruises, and Lundeen was released after being taped up for a broken rib.

The ship tumbled groundward 2½ miles from the Memphis Municipal Airport.

Fire then broke out in the left engine of the twin-motored Convair.

An army fire-fighting unit stationed at the airport reached the scene in time to extinguish the flames before they destroyed the stricken ship.

TAKEN TO HOSPITAL

The injured were taken to the veterans' hospital and to three other hospitals in Memphis proper.

Noel M. Walker of Tazewell, Va., said he saw an eight-month-old baby, identified as Robert Hendler of Boston, Mass., clutched by an unidentified man and saved from injury in the crash. The infant's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hendler, were among the injured.

Yvonne Hanavan, the flight stewardess, of Memphis, was the last person to leave the battered airship despite the threat of the engine fire.

Miss Hanavan helped passengers from the ship and then searched the plane to make certain none were left aboard before she climbed out.

List Toll In Japan At 1,307

TOKIO, June 22 (INS).—Deaths totaling at least 1,307 were marked up tonight as the toll from a typhoon and resulting torrential rains and huge floods that devastated large areas of Japan this week.

Headquarters of the Japanese National Rural Police reported 93 bodies recovered with 1,214 other persons missing and presumed dead.

Most of the deaths were Japanese on boats at sea when the typhoon struck Southern Japan Monday. The bulk of them were 929 Japanese fishermen who ignored storm warnings in order to pursue sardine schools.

Another 128 were believed to have perished when the 600-ton ferry boat Aoba Maru sank in the Inland Sea off Yamaguchi prefecture at the peak of the typhoon's fury early Tuesday.

Only two of the 130 persons on board the ferry were known to have survived. One of these was a Japanese crewman and the other was a United States Army criminal investigation agent, Richard P. Davis, 21, of Cincinnati, Ohio.

A Japanese freighter picked up Davis after he had been in the water for 17 hours. He was quoted as saying he was the only American on the ferry, which sank 12 minutes after giant waves smashed through her portholes.

Twenty bodies of ferry-boat passengers and crewmen were recovered by Japanese Coast Guard craft. No additional survivors were expected to be found.

Czech Prelates Given Warning Not to Delay State Agreement

PRAGUE, June 22 (INS).—The Czech Government-sponsored "Catholic Action" group urged Roman Catholic bishops tonight to stand aside and not interfere with its efforts to reach a separatist church-state agreement.

The Communist-dominated group branded fraudulent by Archbishop Josef Beran and other Catholic leaders, said it was "disturbed by atempts to misuse the church for a political struggle against the state."

The statement added that it regretted the refusal of "church dignitaries" to acknowledge its efforts to reach an agreement with the state but that the group will continue "in the firm conviction we will succeed."

"NOT NEW CHURCH"

Father Josef Lukacovic, member of the Slovak board of trustees who was relieved of church duties by Catholic superiors a year ago for taking part in politics, added that the foundation of a "new church" in Czecho-Slovakia is not the intention of the Government. He said:

"In questions of religion and morals we will submit to the Holy See. But we cannot subordinate ourselves in a political sense to the power of the Papal State in matters which conflict with the interests of the Republic."

"We don't want a schism but we cannot allow a repetition of the case in Hungary.

"If 65,000,000 Catholics in the peoples' democratic (Communist) countries want to live a religious life they must not be prevented from it nor must they be incited against their governments."

The Government-sponsored "Catholic Action" group has been assailed by the church leaders as one of the Government tools whereby the Communists hope to split the church.

The group's criticism of the church leaders was more restrained than last night's threat by Premier Antonin Zapotocky to take legal action against Archbishop Beran and other leaders whom he accused of aiding "enemies of the state."

The language used by Zapotocky and the Government tactics generally have struck observers as paralleling the Communist developments that led to the trial and life imprisonment of Josef Cardinal Mindszenty.

"Electronic Brain" Unveiled in U.S.

WASHINGTON, June 22 (INS).—The Government today unveiled an "electronic brain" which will cut the period of tedious, time-consuming research from years to minutes.

The machine is a "rapid selector" which in 15 minutes can scan a filing system of scientific data that has been compiled over a period of 30 years.

A research operator can accomplish in less than two days what one person would require 50 years to do by using present methods.

Since tiny, space-saving microfilm is employed, the machine should help solve many storage problems.

One reel of 35-mm. film used by the selector will store the contents of almost 500,000 library cards.

Would Tell Bomb Secret To Leader in U.S. House

WASHINGTON, June 22 (INS).—Sen. Johnson (Dem., Colo.) proposed today that a top Congressional leader be told in confidence how many atomic bombs the United States has, and their production rate.

Johnson, a member of the Congressional Atomic Committee, said that in fairness to Congress this information should be given either to Vice-President Barkley, House Speaker Rayburn or Sen. McMahon (Dem., Conn.), atomic committee chairman.

UNDER INVESTIGATION

The number of bombs and the production rate is one of the closely-guarded secrets of the Atomic Energy Commission, which with its chairman, David E. Lilienthal, is under investigation by the Committee on Charges of "Incredible Mismanagement."

Sen Millikin (Rep., Colo.) accused the Atomic Energy Commission of maintaining a "Fascist pattern" of control over private business in the atomic plant town of Richland, Wash.

Meanwhile, an informed source said that an "inventory discrepancy" in uranium 235 at the Oak Ridge, Tenn., atomic installation is "many thousand times" as large as the 3.49 grams still reported missing at the Argonne Laboratory at Chicago.

McMahon's committee is conducting a secret probe of the discrepancy. The senator said it will continue until the committee knows for certain whether the discrepancy is one of bookkeeping or an actual loss of the atomic bomb explosive.

Johnson, a member of the atomic committee, said in an interview:

"It is only fair to Congress that one of its members be told how many atomic bombs we have and their rate of production.

"I do not want this information myself, but I should like to be able to go to Vice-President Barkley, House Speaker Rayburn or Atomic Chairman McMahon and ask: 'Are you entirely satisfied with the atomic bomb production record of the Atomic Energy Commission?'"

To Open Talks On New Pact

BUENOS AIRES, June 22 (Reuters).—Negotiations for an Anglo-Uruguayan trade agreement will open in Montevideo almost immediately after the signature of Britain's new trade pact with Argentina, the British embassy here announced tonight.

Berlin Airlift Sees First Anniversary Of Continuous Operation on Sunday

FRANKFURT, Germany, June 22 (AP).—The airlift next Sunday will mark the first anniversary of continuous operation to Berlin.

By June 26, British and American planes will have flown more than 1,000,000,000 air miles in pumping 1,941,000 tons of supplies into Berlin, United States Air Force officials said today.

Throughout the Russian blockade, from June, 1948, until May of this year, this aerial shuttle was Berlin's sole link to the Western world. With railway service to the West severed by a strike, Berlin again depends on the air lift for life. But this "little blockade" may be over by the anniversary.

Airmen and Britain and the United States have carried supplies into the former German capital every day despite weather, strained supply lines and holidays.

Now the big fleet of 380 silver planes assigned to the airlift is lofting a minimum of 8,200 tons daily over the Russian zone from Western Germany.

Of the estimated 1,941,000 tons which will have been "airlifted" by Sunday, more than 800,000 tons will be food, 1,200,000 tons of coal and 180,000 tons other supplies.

Airlift planes have rumbled into Berlin loaded with snowploughs and potatoes, ambulances and margarine.

Fifty-one British and American flyers have been killed in 179 fatal crashes.

The airlift is "operation vittles" to Americans, "operation plane-fare" to Britons, "pont de avion" to the French, and "luftbruecke" (air-bridge) to the Germans.

On its greatest day—April 16—12,940 tons were ferried in 1,398 flights.

Airlift planes have worn out more than 800 propellers and 10,000 tires.

Seeks Safety In U.N. Offices

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., June 22 (CP). — For almost a month, a Czecho-Slovak citizen employed by the United Nations information centre in Prague has evaded questioning by the secret police by refusing to leave the U.N. offices, it was learned here tonight.

The man is a 50-year-old clerk named Murdoch, wanted for questioning in connection with anti-state activities of persons now on trial in Czecho-Slovakia.

Under an international convention on privileges and immunities, all U.N. offices are recognized as international territories inviolable by local police.

Murdoch has been in the U.N. premises since May 25. Since then the Czecho-Slovak Government and the U.N. have been exchanging notes on the international problem.

Two Supreme Court Justices Testify As to Good Character of Alger Hiss

NEW YORK, June 22 (INS).—A tered Woodstock typewriter, possible key to the solution of the ger Hiss perjury case, was lugged to Federal Court today—by the fence.

Its appearance, and the stormy ents that came in its wake, dominated a day which had produced e historic sight of two United tes Supreme Court justices ching for the integrity of a man out his association with a conused Communist document-runner.

SOUGHT BY F.B.I.

The machine, if it turns out to be e same one, was sought unsuccessfully for months by the F.B.I., in e Government's effort to prove that a Woodstock which the Hisses owned was used to copy secret State Department documents turned over, ten years later, by ex-Communist Whittaker Chambers.

The defence carried a Woodstock into Judge Kaufman's crowded court, and set about the task of proving that Hiss gave it to a negro handyman before the "pumpkin papers" were re-typed on it or a similar machine.

The defence's witnesses for the day ranged from Supreme Court Justices Felix Frankfurter and Stanley F. Reed (as well as a deposition from Adlai E. Stevenson, Governor of Illinois) to the almost inaudible murmurs of Mrs. Claudia Catlett, cook-housekeeper for the Hisses during a period of the alleged conspiracy, and her truculent 27-year-old son, Raymond.

Hiss will speak on his own defence late tomorrow.

The notable line-up of character witnesses began with Governor Stevenson. In sonorous tones, Lloyd Paul Stryker read a favorable deposition.

Then Justice Frankfurter said that Hiss had attracted him while the younger man was his student at the Harvard Law School. He had recommended Hiss to Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes as a law clerk. "I regarded Mr. Hiss' reputation for integrity as excellent," he said.

Frankfurter was followed by Justice Reed, who said quietly that he had never heard Hiss' reputation questioned. Hiss worked for him in 1935 when Reed was solicitor-general of the United States, the justice recalled.

Added Troops Said Needed

LONDON, June 23 (Reuters).—Defence Minister A. V. Alexander today announced in Parliament that the Government has found it necessary to send additional reinforcements to Hongkong.

The necessary steps in the matter were being taken by all three services, he said.

Brush Fires Raze Homes

LOS ANGELES, June 22 (INS).—Raging brush fires fanned by a brisk wind destroyed at least three homes, caused scores of home owners to flee and inflicted damage estimated at over a million dollars in the Los Angeles area today.

One blaze in the Puente Hill region destroyed derricks, tanks and equipment in an oil field valued at $200,000. Damage to avocado groves in the area also was expected to be high. Two hundred men fought the blaze which already has blackened 2,500 acres, razing one $25,000 home and damaging several others.

OTHERS THREATENED

In the Elysian Park district fire shifting winds drove flames in several directions to destroy two homes, one the one-time dwelling of the California historic figure, Joaquin Murietta, and threaten at least 25 others.

Three firemen were burned seriously fighting the widely separated fires.

All available fire-fighting equipment from three counties was called out to fight the costly blazes.

Tourists Told Aid Plan Not Charity for Europe

WASHINGTON, June 22 (CP).—The Economic Co-operation Administration, in a reminder to United States tourists going abroad this Summer, says the Marshall Plan is not a charity set-up.

This and dozens of other facts about the Recovery Program are spelled out in every-day language in an 11-page booklet being distributed through airlines, steamship companies and travel agencies.

E.C.A. lists the 19 European countries which are Marshall Plan recipients and says:

ALL CO-OPERATING

"All of these, like us, have a strong sense of national pride and resent being thought of as charity cases which, of course, they aren't. They're all co-operating and doing the large share of the work in getting Western Europe back on its economic feet.

"Our assistance, important as it is, is only about 5 per cent of the over-all job. The products of the industries, farms, mines and working efforts of 270,000,000 people make up the other 95 per cent.

"Furthermore, these 270,000,000 people put up their own money to match every dollar given to their Government by the United States. Mr. European Citizen himself receives no outright gifts of goods or services.

NOT ONE-SIDED

E.C.A. emphasizes that the Marshall Plan is not all one-sided.

"Did the United States make available the tremendous material assistance of the Marshall Plan without expecting anything in return?" the booklet asks.

"The answer, bluntly, is no. The United States does expect something and it is a big 'something.' First, there are the economic benefits which the United States, and all other countries as well, will share from increased European production and expansion of world trade. . . .

"Much more important, the United States expects that the people of the European nations will strengthen their political freedom and establish closer co-operation among peoples and governments.

"Without this, real peace cannot be achieved. The Marshall Plan can rightly be called America's design for peace."

Yuletide Trimmings Hung for Contest

LANCASTER, Pa., June 22 (AP).—Passerby on Penn Square today stopped, blinked and stared again.

With the thermometer at 95 on the hottest day of the Summer to date workmen were hanging Christmas decorations along King Street. And tonight colored lights will illuminate stars, tinseled wreaths and effigies of Santa Claus.

The unseasonable show stems from dissatisfaction last December with this Eastern Pennsylvania city's Yuletide trimmings. So a contest for a new design was held and a winner selected. The test tonight will seek public reaction to the new display.

Mrs. J. Z. Hall Dies in Vancouver

VANCOUVER, June 22 (CP).—One of Vancouver's first settlers and one of the city's most respected citizens, Mrs. J. Z. Hall, died late today at her home.

Mrs. Hall, daughter of Samuel Greer, one of British Columbia's distinguished citizens, was active in civic and provincial affairs. She sought election to the British Columbia Legislature on several occasions without success.

Congressmen Trade Punches

WASHINGTON, June 22 (AP).—A fist-swinging brawl between the 83-year-old dean of the House, Representative Adolph Sabath (Dem., Ill.), and Representative E. E. Cox (Dem., Ga.) plunged the House of Representatives today into a roaring battle over housing legislation.

Right on the floor of the House, the veteran Sabath and the 69-year-old Cox went one fast round to no decision. Each landed once or twice. Long after it was all over, they shook hands and said "Sorry."

The brief, toe-to-toe slugging match developed over how much time Cox could have for a speech.

Representative James Delaney (Dem., N.Y.) pushed his 200 pounds between them after the flurry of blows. That ended the scrap.

Mishap Causes Death of Trio

BURLINGTON, Colo., June 22 (INS).—A runway between two grain elevators at Burlington collapsed today, plunging three men 140 feet to their death.

A fourth man, Dick Hart, 26, of Ohio, was critically injured, and was under emergency treatment at Kit Carson County Memorial Hospital.

Jerry Glenn, 22, of New York City, and Fernando Martinez, 24, and Henry Gonzales, both of Granada, Colo., died shortly after they were admitted to hospital.

Voices Protest On Smuggling

MANILA, June 22 (INS).—The Philippine Foreign Office protested to Nationalist China today on the smuggling of Chinese aliens into the Philippine Islands.

Undersecretary of Foreign Affairs Felino Neri said that the Philippine Government is "rather concerned" over the "increasing number" of Chinese being smuggled into the islands.

The Chinese charge d'affaires in Manila replied that shipping departures were difficult to control.

One-Third Grants For Health Made

OTTAWA, June 22 (CP).—More than one-third of the national health grants for 1949-50 have already been allocated, the Health Department announced today.

More than $12,431,000 have been appropriated out of the total of $31,000,000 with new projects involving large sums coming in daily.

Amounts set aside for various new health services in 1949-50 by provinces are: Quebec, $5,299,000; Newfoundland, $19,779; Prince Edward Island, $180,232; New Brunswick, $290,331; Nova Scotia, $263,967; Ontario, $2,891,359; Manitoba, $779,248; Saskatchewan, $988,177; Alberta, $1,116,348; British Columbia, $376,908.

Menace to Wheat Seen in New Rust

MOSCOW, Idaho, June 22 (AP).—A potential threat to the wheat industry in Canada and the United States was described today at a meeting of 100 agriculture experts from 11 Western States.

Dr. F. C. Elliott said a virulent new stem rust, 15-B, is attacking wheat varieties previously known for their resistance to rust.

He said the rust has shown up in Canada and in Ohio and Minnesota.

Research scientists hope to develop resistance to the disease by cross-breeding with a Russian wheat variety, he said, but major problems are involved.

Defence Board Holds Session At Edmonton

EDMONTON, June 22 (CP).—Headed by Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, permanent Canadian delegate to the United Nations, a group of high-ranking officers of the army, navy and air forces of Canada and the United States, held a meeting here today of the permanent joint board of defence.

The meeting, held in camera at headquarters of Northwest Air Command was one of four held quarterly.

It is believed the officers will take a short trip by air into the north before returning to Ottawa.

Canadian delegates in the group in addition to Gen. McNaughton are Rear Admiral F. L. Houghton, R.C.N.; Air Vice Marshal C. R. Dunlap, R.C.A.F.; Col. J. E. C. Ramsay, and C. C. Eberts of the Department of External Affairs.

The United States delegation includes Maj.-Gen. Guy V. Henry, U.S., Army (retired), acting chairman of the American section; Maj.-Gen. R. L. Walsh, U.S.A.F.; Rear Admiral R. E. Libby, U.S.N.; Maj.-Gen. C. L. Bolte, U.S. Army; Capt. W. Miller, U.S. Navy, and William P. Snow of the State Department.

Urges Early Approval of Pact Due to East-West Differences

WASHINGTON, June 22 (INS).—Secretary of State Acheson declared today that the "still widely divergent views" between the Western powers and Russia demand immediate Congressional approval of the North Atlantic Pact and the global arms program.

He appealed for early ratification of the pact and passage by Congress of legislation authorizing the one billion, 450 million dollar arms program.

MAKES FULL REPORT

Acheson made a full report on the Paris meeting of the Big Four Foreign Ministers' meeting to a closed session of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. He has just returned from Paris.

He declared that "failure of the conference to obtain satisfactory and firm agreement on economic and political unification of Germany . . . re-emphasizes the importance of ratification of the North Atlantic Pact and passage of the military assistance program at this session of Congress."

The secretary explained that "some worthwhile progress" was made in Paris in reaching agreement on a German modus vivendi (temporary living arrangement pending final settlement).

But he emphasized that failure to reach a final accord points up the diverging viewpoints between West and East on "basic issues."

CONTINUE FIRM POLICY

Acheson declared pact ratification and arms program approval are "necessary in order that we may continue our firm policy in Europe and maintain the momentum which has been stimulated by that policy." He added:

"This momentum, in my opinion, was responsible for the lifting of the (Berlin) blockade, the convening of the Foreign Ministers' meeting, and the accomplishments at that meeting."

In a statement to newsmen, Acheson added:

"I have expressed to the committee my conviction that further progress toward our objective over the months ahead will depend upon the action we take to maintain this momentum."

Following Acheson's appearance, committee members indicated that ratification of the Atlantic Pact could be expected at this session.

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., June 22 (INS).—The United Nations Commission for Indonesia reported tonight that Dutch-Indonesian talks in Batavia are proceeding satisfactorily and the return of the Republican Government to Jogjakarta is imminent.

"Little Grey Land Act Home" Still High Among Best Sellers

That little grey Veterans' Land Act home in the West is still high on the best-seller list.

G. L. Chatterton, regional supervisor for Veterans' Land Act, said yesterday that Vancouver Island leads all Canada in the percentage increase of small holdings and farms under V.L.A.

Number of new loans on Vancouver Island increased 38 per cent in the 11 months ending April 30. British Columbia average increase was 22 per cent, and Dominion average was 16 per cent.

Number of holdings in the Victoria region, which includes all Vancouver Island, rose from 614 on June 1, 1948, to 766 on April 30, 1949. First holding was taken out in 1945.

Vancouver Island's V.L.A. investment is now $4,000,000.

"We estimate this rate of establishment will continue for at least a year at the same rate, and possibly two," Mr. Chatterton said.

"You get more for your dollar today. Many of the veterans wisely held off when prices were very high."

Many veterans who formerly lived in other provinces are moving west to build their dream houses. It is estimated that one-third of those on V.L.A. have moved here after discharge.

Of the 766 V.L.A. establishments on Vancouver Island, some 500 are small holdings, and the remainder are farms. About 300 are in the Greater Victoria area.

A petition signed by 65 city residents yesterday demanded that City Council prevent an East Indian from moving into a house at 1217 Johnson Street.

WINS FELLOWSHIP

Charles William Garrard, who graduated this year in Forestry at the University of British Columbia, won the $1,000 graduate Fellowship given by the Western Branch, Canadian Pulp and Paper Association, it was announced yesterday.

He will do his graduate work at the New York State College of Forestry, Syracuse, New York.

Sewer Outlet Happy Hunting Ground for Gulls

While City Council ponders means of overcoming pollution of waters east and west of sewer outlet, seagulls still come in flocks to Clover Point. Picture above, showing gulls diving for solids in sewage effluent, was taken by city resident who lives in vicinity of condemned bathing beaches on Ross and Foul Bays. Public works committee is to seek means of ending pollution at meeting on Friday. It has been estimated successful plan would cost between $20,000 and $35,000.

Professor-Biographer Says Public Turning More to Real-Life Reading

Readers' tastes are swinging toward biography, Dr. Lionel Stevenson, noted writer and educator, said in Victoria yesterday.

Dr. Stevenson, head of the department of English at the University of Southern California, is himself the author of several biographies, at least one of which has been widely acclaimed by critics.

With him is his mother, Mrs. Mable Rose Stevenson, a poetess in her own right. They are staying with Mr. and Mrs. J. Islay Mutter, 1009 Terrace Avenue, until Tuesday. Then they will spend two days in Duncan, their old home, before going on to Vancouver.

"Biography has replaced fiction in many people's tastes," Dr. Stevenson says. "This seems to be the result of the fact that fiction has become more and more realistic, and tried to be like real life, so I suppose people decide they might as well go the whole way and read about real life."

USE SOME "TRICKS"

"Much popular biography has been very good," says Dr. Stevenson. However, he shies away from fictional biographies, because he finds it difficult to tell where real life ends and fiction begins.

He believes biographers can use some of the tricks of fiction—such as suspense and climax—without doing violence to facts.

Each of his biographies takes him three or four years' work to complete. Most of this is research time. His most famous book, "The Showman of Vanity Fair," a biography of Thackeray, was published ten years after he began it. Other work intervened.

FIRST BOOK, 1926

He published his first book in 1926, not long after graduating from University of British Columbia. It was "Appraisals of Canadian Literature." Then he published "Darwin Among the Poets," a critical study of 19th-century poets. Ryerson Press published ten chapbooks of his own verse.

"The Wild Irish Girl," a biography of Lady Morgan, was followed by "Dr. Quicksilver," a biography of the novelist Charles Lever. In September Appleton-Century will publish a new book which he wrote in collaboration with a colleague, John D. Lohr. It writes a discussion of Victorian literary figures against their social and intellectual backgrounds.

His mother's book of verse was "Daughter of Donegal," drawn from her Irish girlhood.

Rose Wins Challenge Trophy

—Colonist Photo.

Picture shows T. H. Harper, 1566 Despard Avenue, beaming with pleasure as he proudly holds his winning rose that netted him first prize and Oak Bay Municipality Challenge Trophy. Occasion was Victoria Horticultural Society annual Summer flower show held in lower ballroom of Crystal Garden. Show ends at 9:30 tonight.

Loses Appeal Against Jail Sentence

Judge H. H. Shandley, in County Court yesterday upheld a city police court sentence of seven days in jail passed on Francis C. Shaw, 3317 Kingsley Street, who appeared to appeal the conviction.

But he reduced the licence suspension awarded by Magistrate H. C. Hall in the city police court from one year to three months.

Shaw was charged with driving while intoxicated 1st February 25, after the car he was driving was in collision with a Ross lumber-carrier driven by Sydney E. Dye, 2547 Government Street. The collision was at the intersection of Government and Flagard Streets.

In his County Court re-trial he was represented by Joseph McKenna. Joseph B. Clearihue was Crown prosecutor.

Pink-Edged 'Peace' Rose Wins Trophy for Grower

A beautiful pink-edged "Peace" rose, grown by Tom Harper, 1566 Despard Avenue, was chosen as the champion rose shown at the Victoria Horticultural Society Summer Flower Show held in the lower ballroom of the Crystal Garden yesterday.

The massive bloom, measuring nearly eight inches across, won Mr. Harper the Oak Bay Municipality Challenge Trophy.

The steady stream of spectators were treated to more than 50 rose entries, which featured some of the finest roses seen in Victoria for many years.

JUNIOR CLASS

In the junior class, Susan Edgell, 2230 Beach Drive, won first prize for the best table display of three distinct types of roses.

Another outstanding exhibit in the show was a display of six various-colored begonias entered by David Nicol, former manager of Victoria Dominoes.

Still another exhibit, entered by the Lake Hill Women's Institute, and featuring a large general floral display built on staging approximately 12 feet long and three tiers high, drew an interested audience.

SWEET PEAS POPULAR

Sweet peas grown at Beacon Hill Park were also an attraction at the show which also featured a display of pot plants by John Naysmith.

There was also a special vegetable and fruit section. Here on display were large-size strawberries, gooseberries nearly as large as plums, and green peas which would arouse the envy of any vegetable grower.

Exhibits also included a good variety of Canterbury Bells, Iris, pansies, violas, carnations, dianthus, lilium and many other types of brilliant colored flowers.

Meanwhile patients from the D.V.A. Hospital were among the hundreds of spectators who viewed the flower show yesterday. They will be guests of the society again today.

The show will be open today from 10 a.m. until 9:30 p.m., when an auction of some of the exhibits will take place.

Poor Brakes Lead to Fine

Magistrate H. C. Hall fined William George Smith, Hut No. 6, Clover Point, $15 when Smith pleaded guilty to driving a truck not adequately equipped with brakes. He appeared yesterday morning in city police court.

William H. Brown, 1523 Amphion Street, was remanded until Monday after entering a plea of not guilty on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Chancel Kour Sundher, 779 Market Street, will have to come into court herself to face her careless driving charge, Magistrate H. C. Hall ruled yesterday.

He told her husband, who appeared on her behalf, that either she must appear in person or have a lawyer appear as her representative.

Elderly Man Accused in Slaying Reported Improved in Hospital

Francis Edward Smith, 75, charged Tuesday with strangling to death his wife, Sarah Elizabeth, also 75, was reported recovering in Royal Jubilee Hospital from throat and wrist wounds caused when he slashed himself with a razor blade some time after the murder.

Meanwhile Mrs. H. Gibbard, 2389 Dalhousie Street, owner of the trim white and blue bungalow at 2325 Dunlevy Street, where the slaying took place, said yesterday she had been harassed by phone calls from house-hunters eager to rent the cottage.

The Smiths, who, said welfare authorities, had a top income of $65 a month, had rented the home for $40 a month.

"It is not for rent," Mrs. Gibbard said, adding "rent is now paid up for two months in advance."

"Dozens" of people have phoned about renting the house, she said, but later reduced the number to "several."

Asked if she was taking names of prospective tenants she replied: "It's all in abeyance."

Smith is under police guard in his hospital room under treatment of Dr. Edward Nash, who first summoned police to the Oak Bay cottage.

Police ran into the house Tuesday morning to find Mrs. Smith lying strangled to death on a bed while Dr. Nash was treating her husband for razor slashes to the throat and wrists in the living-room.

Inquest into Mrs. Smith's death will be held at 10 a.m. today in Hayward's Funeral Parlors.

Council Ousts Claim for Pay

Claim of a former probationer fireman for back pay for 136 hours spent attending drills has been turned down by Saanich Council. The municipal solicitor will inform the ex-fireman, Earl Reynolds, that the council is not liable, since drills are part of training, not duty. Mr. Reynolds left the force last December, before his six months' probation had been completed.

A Needless Reflection on Canadian Gratitude

EXCEPT for one important neglect Canadian ex-servicemen and women have on the whole been well looked after in the matter of rehabilitation. It was a large and difficult task to resettle in civilian life approximately a million persons and compensate them by way of gratuities, pensions, vocational training and other benefits to which their war service rightly entitled them. That this was accomplished successfully is to the credit of the Dominion, but it makes it all the less understandable why one section of veterans should have been singled out for discrimination.

Something of the case for the merchant navy veterans was presented on this page yesterday in a letter from the secretary-treasurer of their national association. The facts recited therein speak for themselves, and speak eloquently of the need for equitable adjustment. Merchant navy veterans go pensionless, they have few opportunities for vocational training, they are not entitled to housing or small holdings, civil service preferment, normal veteran hospitalization or medical treatment. They are, in short, left outside the general scope of the rehabilitation that the country provides for all other ex-servicemen.

It must be a strange reasoning that separates merchant seamen from their wartime fellows of the other three military arms in the matter of postwar financial credits. In war the merchant navy was as much a part of the nation's fighting resources as was the navy, army or the air force. It was as indispensable, and its members as invaluable as any other unit of service. There can be no excuse for not spreading rehabilitation benefits so that they include merchant seamen in every phase. One trusts that Canada's new Parliament will move quickly to end a discrimination which is a needless reflection on the gratitude of the country for a task well and courageously performed.

Municipal Expansion May Need Controlling

SAANICH ratepayers will be barking up the wrong tree if they attempt to hold the municipal council wholly responsible for the perennial shortage of water that endangers health and property. Four times in eleven years the taxpayers have rejected money by-laws that might have saved them from their present plight. Having turned a deaf ear to repeated warnings, they have themselves in part to blame for the fact that what was prophesied has come to pass.

There is no comfort in that for the property owners who voted in favor of earlier by-laws and have been made to suffer for their failure to pass, but it is something that should be kept in mind in any assessment of the present situation. A municipality has no power to force upon taxpayers services involving capital expenditure. Having turned down in the past measures to afford relief, Saanich property owners have little cause to rebuke the council. The condition has been known for years, and the hundreds who have built homes in Saanich have done so with their eyes open.

Saanich is not the only district municipality in British Columbia in which building development has outrun the services available. It is becoming a question whether any municipality should be allowed to sanction, and even in some cases to encourage, residential growth in areas where services already are overloaded and where the establishment of new homes can only aggravate the situation. The time may have come for a review at higher levels of the laws governing municipal expansion, with a view to devising ways of ensuring that new settlement will enjoy services meeting the dictates of public health, safety and convenience. In the case of Saanich, shortage of water is only part of a much wider problem that ultimately will have to be faced.

Never a Dull Moment in This Restless Age

WHETHER it is the movies where pistols are almost as commonplace as pipes, or the so-called comic books where nothing short of disaster is "to be continued," or just that devil-may-care irresponsibility which seems to follow a major war for a little while, this is a restless, impatient age. All over this country and in every country people are taking the law into their own hands, usually with dire consequences to others and to themselves.

No Hollywood director at his worst would dare to slaughter three people in a courtroom in a fit of impatience even if it were in the script. No celluloid labor leaders would take axes and revolvers to reason with their non-striking brethren on board ship. The worst portrayer of "comic" blurbs would not look for a little atom bomb to immolate a personal enemy for a purely whimsical reason, or for no reason at all. Men, white or black, are not taken out of their beds to be flogged by masked cowards even in the pulpiest of the press between magazine covers. Yet in real life things like that are happening.

It used to be said that the "Commando" training, with its personal rigors, might embitter men and make them wild in civil life. Nothing of the kind has happened. Men who have faced fire in real earnest have been the last to reach for a gun, and always that has been so. Nor can the present trend be placed on juveniles, for few minors are concerned. It is the staid, civilian population that is breaking out with these very dangerous spots. The law, of course, has, the final remedy, and it must be applied. No one is at liberty to break "the King's peace."

Letters and Excerpts

TRUTH ON ROSTRUM

Sir,—During an election and before and during a war, critical periods in the life of a nation, the truth stream dries up and all is fair so long as the objective is attained. This must be corrected.

The United Nations has recognized this danger to world peace. A study of wars, once sanity is again restored, has shown that a true picture of the controversy was not presented to the people. A drafting sub-committee of 11 members has been appointed by the United Nations under the title "Convention on International Transmission of News and Right of Correction," to deal with this. Ink is cheaper than "blood, sweat and tears"!

Is it not time for some thought to be given, whereby the flow of propaganda during elections can be kept within the truth channel?

WILLIAM MITCHELL

80 South Holdom Avenue, Vancouver, B.C.

THE GENTILES

Sir,—Recently from the pulpit of a certain church the preacher made a sweeping reference to Christians as Gentiles. In this the reverend gentleman was only stating, I venture to say, the prevailing opinion of both laity and theologians.

But this opinion is in sharp conflict with that of any standard encyclopedia or Webster's dictionary. Defining the word "Gentile," Webster gives:

"A pagan; a worshipper of false gods; any person not a Jew or a Christian; a heathen." Would any professing Christian subscribe to that?

The Apostle Paul, writing to his Christian flock, says in Galatians iii:29:

"If ye be Christ's, then are ye Abraham's seed and heirs according to the promise."

ELECTION ALIBIS

Sir,—The editorial "The Blame Should Rest Where It Belongs," in the Sunday Colonist, expresses what a lot of us are thinking. Members of the C.C.F. Party have become very good at explaining away their successive rejections by the people, and I frankly hope they will become even more proficient along these lines as future elections come and go.

We are told the main reason for the C.C.F. defeat was the "slanderous campaign of distortions, half-truths and outright lies" carried on in the news, editorial and advertising columns of the press. This is based on the not-too-bright assumption that the people are generally stupid, incapable of thinking for themselves, and willing to be led around by the nose by the "vicious capitalist press."

President Truman's election in the United States last November, despite almost universal opposition from the American press, should refute that fanciful explanation.

Another reason for the C.C.F. rout, we are told, is that the people are not yet "politically mature," and herein, I think, lies the greatest C.C.F. failing—the easy assumption that only members of the C.C.F. Party know what is best for us; the rest of us poor, benighted individuals are still floundering about in the outer darkness.

The real reason for the C.C.F. defeat is, of course, that the people of this province just don't want to entrust their affairs to a group of theorists with no practical experience in the difficult exacting job of running the Government of British Columbia.

A Summer Storm

Last night a storm fell on the world
From heights of drouth and heat,
The surly clouds for weeks were furled,
The air could only sway and beat.

The beetles clattered at the blind,
The hawks fell twanging from the sky,
The west unrolled a feathery wind,
And the night fell sullenly.

The storm leaped roaring from its lair,
Like the shadow of doom.
The poignard lightning searched the air,
The thunder ripped the shattered gloom.

The rain came down with a roar like fire,
Full-voiced and clamorous and deep,
The weary world had its heart's desire,
And fell asleep.

Thinking Aloud

". . . . of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

NORMALLY midsummer is not my favorite movie-going period, but I went to see a show the other night. It will be enough if I say it had its moments.

One of them depicted a holiday crowd making whoopee while an orchestra beat out a captivating rhythm. They were strangers to each other but merriment broke down shyness and there were smiles everywhere.

And because of the smiles a good time was had by all.

There are smiles and smiles, it goes without saying. The smile of contempt, to mention one that could be done without, wouldn't warm the cockles of any heart. Neither would the face that is forever smiling, vacuously and without meaning.

It is the smile of genuine friendliness that counts.

A while back a reader of this column suggested that I write a piece about smiling, and how much happier the world would be if more people bore a cheerful look.

I agreed, but felt doubtful.

Not a little bit depends on the normal cast of one's contenance. Some faces fall easily into the kind of smile that evokes a like response. But not all of them.

Mine, for example, is rather serious in repose, I'm afraid. Not once but many a time when I've been lost in thought someone has come along and said: "Why so gloomy; cheer up." And maybe all the time I've been having the most delightful thoughts.

They didn't show through, that was the trouble.

It's most provoking, and I don't know what to do about it. I suppose I might practice smiling in front of a mirror, but when you do that you look, and feel, like a gargoyle.

Yet a cheery face gives me as big a thrill as anyone.

It can't be denied that you feel pleasant inside when a beaming salute greets you of a morning, for instance. My bus driver is happily of that ilk, and in consequence there is a sense of welcome when you step aboard.

Not every driver makes you feel that way. Some are so frosen faced you wonder at your temerity in having them drive you; but then some passengers are equally saturnine.

It takes two to complete—or even initiate—an exchange of greetings, and if everyone waited for the other person to smile first—well, the world might never see a row of pearly teeth.

As a rule there's a little girl on the bus when I get on, en route to her kindergarden class. She prattles away merrily to the driver and he answers back just as animatedly, and, perhaps more important, without talking down to the child. When the bus stops to let her off she always turns round with an all-embracing "Goodbye" and a merry wave of the hand. The driver's smile follows her on to the sidewalk.

It's infectious, too. You can see every face in the bus smiling in sympathy. You feel your own facial muscles changing their grooves. Yet probably half the passengers will go on from there with a gloomy look as though the universe hung heavily round their necks.

Naturally if you've a pain in your midriff you don't feel like smiling, and if you tried it the result might be a grimace better left unbidden. Normally, however, it wouldn't hurt most of us, this column included, to cultivate the art of looking pleasant. It might surprise us then to find how amiable most people really can be if they try.

'Tis true enough this seems a pretty solemn sort of world these days, but in the main we live our lives with the folks close at hand, and it is there we'll find our deserts.

What they are to be will depend on you and me as much as on them. But if we give the other person half a chance in all probability he'll react to our liking.

Actually there's nothing so heart warming as the smile of genuine goodwill, and as you know the enduring things of life are tied up with personal friendships that carry with them this outward symbol of kinship.

Smile a while, says the song. Let's try it, even if, like this column, you have a serious pair of lips. It will do us good.

Trade With the Satelites

By RAYMOND MOLEY

NEW YORK.—American diplomatic policy-makers admit privately a shift in their policy toward Russia, which becomes apparent if we peer closely through the torrent of words pouring out of Paris. We are not primarily concerned with the future of Internal Russia, its Politburo or its form of government. We are not trying to provoke revolution against its Communist masters. We are not worried about China, except incidentally. Communism with a pigtail is no menace to our civilization. Instead it is an embarrassment to the Kremlin. War would not be precipitated by the commisars unless we endangered their power at home.

We are, however, concerned in pushing Western influence into the European satelites of Russia, and if measures are taken in Paris to achieve that end, we may count this conference a success.

That is why nothing may be accomplished except the opening of more trade with Poland, Yugoslavja, Hungary, Czecho-Slovakia and even Bulgaria and Rumania.

As far as Russia is concerned, foreign trade has never been very important. With one-sixth of the earth's surface and one-tenth of its population, it has never had more than 3 per cent of the world's trade, even under the Czars. Under the Bolshevik regime this proportion has grown smaller. The Soviets have been concerned with foreign trade only to help in industrial reconstruction and in armament. The Russian peasant, when he cannot get foreign-made clothes or something better than his old scythe, is accustomed to resign himself to the inevitable and to wait.

It is absurd to believe that restrictions in trade aimed at Russia are effective weapons. The exchange of goods can be dispensed with by the Soviets. If they want something desperately they will mine gold to get it. They care little about exporting goods.

This is not true of the satelite states. Their populations have had a much higher standard of living than that of the Russians. Poland, Czecho-Slovakia and Hungary have in the past enjoyed a well-organized trade with the West. They have taken large quantities of consumer goods, tools, machinery, electrical equipment, motor vehicles and other articles in exchange for grain and other foodstuffs. Czecho-Slovakia, moreover, has exported the products of highly-skilled industries.

Under the postwar puppet governments these countries have been bound by Russian trade restrictions, but they have found many an opening in the Iron Curtain. Yugoslavia has been openly contemptuous of Eastern threats and controls.

A week ago, the Belgrade Government commanded the liquidation of two companies which it owned jointly with the Soviet Government in Moscow. These companies—the Justa, an air transport concern, and the Juspad, a Danube transport outfit — were formed two years ago.

The Russian zone in Germany has been brought down to low levels of production by the dismantling and removal of industries and the seizure of reparations out of current production. Germans living there are bitterly resentful of restrictions against trade with neighboring satelite states. No effective Communist domination seems possible so long as Communism shows that it cannot support Germans in the style to which they have been accustomed. Even the Russians have an interest in the introduction of Western goods into Eastern Germany, since the meagre supplies they have been providing have been at the expense of their own people.

Hence, we may expect a re-establishment of a trade zone in Eastern Europe. This may be all that will happen at Paris. But it will be important.

Lesson of C.C.F. Defeat

(From The Toronto Globe & Mail)

THE election result in British Columbia is interesting to the rest of the country for one reason—the collapse of the C.C.F. In the new Legislature of forty-eight members the Socialists will hold six seats. They won fourteen in 1941 and ten in 1945. Thus their strength has shown a steady decline in the last three tests. There is a lesson here for voters in the other nine Provinces, especially Ontario.

It was certainly not because the Pacific Coast C.C.F.-ers were lukewarm in their socialism that they were rejected. On the contrary, the British Columbia wing of the party is the most forthright in the country, and so the most honest. Said Ernest E. Winch, a C.C.F. candidate, at a Vancouver election meeting last week: "The C.C.F. stands for the abolition of capitalism and nothing less. We'll go as far and as fast as you are prepared to go. For me, it's the whole hog." Mr. Winch was a member of the last House. His son, Harold Winch, also held a seat and is Provincial C.C.F. leader.

Faced with the straight choice between socialism and free enterprise, as represented by the Coalition Government, the voters gave the C.C.F. a thorough trouncing. When the party won only two seats out of thirty-seven in Nova Scotia ten days ago, nobody was surprised, for socialism has never made a strong appeal to the Maritimers. But British Columbia was supposedly one of the left-wing strongholds in Canada. The C.C.F. expected at least to make gains there. Optimists in the party predicted a sweep which would install a C.C.F. Government at Victoria.

The obvious deduction is that the C.C.F. is certain to be a minority party, perhaps an insignificant minority devoid of influence, in the next Federal Parliament. It has no strength in the Maritimes. It is invisible, wiped off the slate, in Quebec. It is an also-ran in British Columbia. It is extremely feeble in Social Credit Alberta. In Saskatchewan it is reportedly, and not surprisingly, losing ground. The C.C.F. has been reduced to the status of a splinter group, with no claim to be a national party and no hope of office.

LIFE IN ENGLAND

Entering a public washroom and looking round for a place to hang my overcoat (writes a correspondent), my eyes met a circle, about two inches in diameter, drawn on the wall in pencil, with the adjacent inscription "Proposed Site for a Hook."

Whether this was the jest of a frivolous citizen or a serious geste of the municipal council, I do know not. But I have not been so charmed since I asked a theatre agency whether it could let me have three tickets for "Annie Get Your Gun," and received the urbane reply, "That, sir, is a point which verges upon the moot."

Observation Car:

By G. B.

HAROLD the grocer opened a large box of paper handkerchiefs, tacked on a sign reading "Need One? Take One," and placed it on a counter in his busy shop. Later in the day a friend dropped in to make a few purchases, and asked in a loud voice calculated to carry throughout the shop: "What on earth are these hankies for? Are they to cry into after receiving a bill from you?" Several women almost dropped their shopping baskets in surprise at the sarcastic remark. Harold is a man who believes in the old precept that a soft answer turneth away wrath. With his best business smile he replied: "Those hankies are so you can clean your spectacles and see the many bargains in this shop" . . . Several residents of Vancouver Street who became tired of the sight of grass and weeds three feet high growing in the gutters turned to with a will and cleaned up the mess outside their dwellings. A Cook Street property owner who happened to see one of them swinging a mattock in the gutter observed: "You better be careful, friend. There is probably a tax for cutting municipal hay" . . . During an Elks' convention at Portland, Ore., last week, Judge Frank J. Lonergan told delegates: "Our greatest danger today is the damaging inroad made by atheistic Communists into our institutions of higher learning. There is also the lackadaisical attitude of parents who overlook the danger of imaginative young persons impressed by the platitudes of Stalin's followers" . . . Many a man who makes the rounds gets circles under his eyes . . . A pedestrian should always be seen and not hurt . . . An old Spanish proverb says habits are at first cobwebs, then cables . . . Samuel Johnson wrote: "Man's chief merit consists in resisting the impulses of his nature."

The Packsack

Of GREGORY CLARK

WE who ride in buses and trains live in constant fear of cranks getting the seat beside us. We become skilled in spotting a crank the minute he boards the bus and glances with his beady eye over the passengers to select his victim. At each bus stop we peer apprehensively over the top of our newspaper or magazine. If one of the hated breed comes aboard we dive back down behind our paper and pretend to be intensely engrossed in what we are reading. But a really malignant crank takes no account of that. He moves down the aisle, slowly, checking over the prospects . . .

The only possible defence is to try and get a seat alongside somebody who obviously is not a blatherskite. But this does not protect you from a frontal or rear attack. A good crank thinks nothing of turning around and craning his neck, or leaning forward from the seat behind and muttering in your ear.

With elections so close, bus and train travel has become torture to those of us who love to travel peaceably and alone. The cranks are in their glory. In these hot times they don't even confine themselves to muttering in your ear. They make speeches for the benefit of everybody within a six-seat radius. It is agony.

It ill becomes any of us to make light of such human afflictions as deafness. But I have discovered a little trick for the handling of cranks that I am happy to pass on. I pretend I am hard of hearing. When I am trapped into occupying a double seat with an empty seat beside me, and when the inevitable crank, with his beak open like a vulture, comes and sits beside me, I pay no attention to his opening remarks. When he increases in volume, I turn, with that slightly startled and apologetic gesture the deaf use, cup my off ear with my hand and regret to inform my seat mate that I am hard of hearing. It is a pleasure to sit there and listen to him whimpering like a dog left out all night.—Canada Wide Feature Service Ltd.

The World Almanac lists the Caspian Sea, which lies in the U.S.S.R. with its southern shore bordering Iran, as the world's largest "lake." Its area is given as 168,890 square miles. Second on the list is Lake Superior with an area of 31,820 square miles.

25 YEARS AGO—Victoria was en fete for the visit of the British Navy Special Service Squadron on its Empire tour, led by H.M.S. Hood, commanded by Vice-Admiral Sir Frederick Field.

50 YEARS AGO—Three more of the sealers cleared yesterday for Behring Sea cruises. Between $60,000 and $70,000 has been spent on fitting out the sealing fleet this season.

85 YEARS AGO—The hull, machinery, boilers, etc., of the steamer Alexandra were all manufactured in this city, and the perfect success she has proved to be speaks well for all who were employed upon her.

Two St. Louis Swimming Pools Closed After White-Negro Clash

ST. LOUIS, June 22 (INS).—Two St. Louis swimming pools were closed today in the wake of a clash between negro and white bathers in which at least 12 persons were injured, five of them seriously.

The battle, occurred last night at Fairground Park swimming pool after Public Welfare Director John J. O'Toole banned segregation at the city's 35 playgrounds and nine public pools.

ISSUED ORDER

Mayor Joseph Darst issued an executive order last night following the disorder and segregation was re-instituted immediately.

Ordered closed for the day along with Fairground Park was Mulanphy Pool, where white and negro youths swam without incident after O'Toole's notice yesterday.

City authorities said today the disturbance was "all over."

Four hundred policemen were rushed to the Fairground Park last night. A crowd estimated at close to 5,000 persons gathered soon after a group of negro youths requested police protection on leaving the pool in the afternoon.

SURGED AFTER THEM

Police said things were quiet until about dusk when two negroes appeared at the park entrance and the crowd reportedly surged after them. Officials said one of the two carried a knife and the two were beaten severely.

Detectives rescued them, but disorder continued for a time until others also were injured.

Before the non-segregation order was issued, special pools had been set aside for negroes.

Cougar Hunt In Burnaby All Mistake

VANCOUVER, June 22 (CP).—It was all a mistake and the cougar hunt in suburban Burnaby has been called off.

It started early today when a guard at Oakalla Prison Farm reported a "big cat" had slunk across the road into the bushes.

Armed searchers combed the area, but the hunt ended when Game Warden Reg King said:

"I am satisfied what he saw was not a cougar but most likely a bobcat or racoon."

A cougar killed a seven-year-old Indian boy at Kyoquet, on Vancouver Island, last Sunday.

At Anglemont, B.C., 300 miles northeast of here, armed patrols are on duty each night at Shuswap Lake to guard against possible cougar raids.

Mrs. Harry Gardiner spotted a cougar in a tree under which she had placed her baby on a blanket. The beast scampered when she screamed. A smaller cougar was sighted in another tree.

Seek Ice Show With Barbara Ann

VANCOUVER, June 22 (CP).—Pacific National Exhibition directors and the New Westminster Park Board are negotiating with Barbara Ann Scott in an effort to bring her ice show here in the Autumn.

P.N.E. directors have suggested October 17, 18 and 19 as dates for the proposed appearance.

Claims "Sanctions" Put on Yugoslavia

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, June 22 (AP).—Foreign Minister Edvard Kardelj has accused the Cominform countries of Eastern Europe of applying "economic sanctions" against Yugoslavia in their campaign to overthrow Marshal Tito's Government.

In a speech at Titograd, the Foreign Minister referred to the attacks of the Moscow-directed Cominform (Communist International Information Bureau) as "vile" and said they were made with "dishonest and dirty aims."

Unionists Meet On World Body

GENEVA, June 22 (AP).—A battle for the allegiance of union men all over the world will be joined here this week-end.

Leaders or representatives of non-Communist unions are gathering to lay the groundwork for a world group in opposition to the Communist-Ruled World Federation of Trade Unions.

Organizers of the two-day conference say it will decide who will sponsor the first world convention of the new organization and where and when it will be held. James B. Carey, treasurer of the Congress of Industrial Organizations and delegate to this session, said the new group will be functioning before 1950.

That a new world organization would be started became obvious last January, when the British Trades Union Congress, the American C.I.O., and The Netherlands Trade Union Organization left the W.F.T.U., charging it was dominated by the Reds.

Since then, most of the major national union organizations in Western Europe and Scandinavia have quit the W.F.T.U.

Balconies were first used in dwelling houses in the early part of the 15th century.

Sweepstake Agents Lose Mail

TORONTO, June 22 (CP).—Privilege of receiving mail has been withdrawn from several Toronto residents for failure to sign a written statement that they will not use the mails or permit their name and address to be used in connection with lotteries.

During the last week, the Post Office Department in Ottawa has sent out letters to persons suspected of dealing in lotteries in general and the Irish Hospitals Sweepstakes in particular.

The form letter begins:

"Evidence has been received indicating that you are using the mails in connection with the lottery conducted by the Irish Hospitals Trust Limited."

LOTTERIES ILLEGAL

The letter says that all lotteries are illegal in Canada and postal regulations provide for withdrawal of mailing privileges from any person or firm "observed to be using the Canadian mails for lottery purposes, or whose name and address is being used for the receipt of lottery matter."

Assurance that the recipient of one of these letters will not continue using the mails for illegal purposes can be supplied by signing a form included in the letter.

At Ottawa, post office officials declined to disclose the number of persons on its "banned" list, but said it fluctuated from time to time, generally coming to a peak when sweepstake activity is at its height.

Declares Faith in Canada Will Be Rewarded in Future

MINAKI, Ont., June 22 (CP).—The future holds much promise for Canadians who have faith in their country, Gerald G. Ryan of Montreal said today in his presidential address to the Investment Dealers' Association of Canada.

Faith, he continued, to further its continued development and enough judgment to perceive overall progress despite the ups and downs inevitable to business enterprise.

"Judicious risk-taking and an adequate supply of venture capital arising as much as possible within our own borders, are essential to Canada's economic progress."

VAST SUM IN SAVINGS

Mr. Ryan said statistics show that the personal savings of Canadians aggregate vast sums in years of prosperity.

"The indicated total of savings for 1946, 1947 and 1948 amounted to $961,000,000, $650,000,000 and $1,-[illegible]8,000,000 respectively. A high proportion of these savings is paid to insurance companies under life insurance and endowment policies, annuity contracts and kindred benefits.

"The employment of the very large sums so received is subjected not only to legislative restrictions but also to the rigorous tests set up by the individual institutions. It is my personal belief that if these savings are to be put to their best [illegible], a broadening of the field of institutional investment and in particular a more extensive investment in promising common stocks of Canadian corporations are essential.

"A larger participation by insurance companies in the development of commerce and industry is required in the national interest and should, it seems to me, be feasible within the bounds imposed by present legislation."

While emphasizing the need for adequate venture capital and alert and well-informed investors, Mr. Ryan stressed the large amount of [illegible] taking place.

"During 1948, capital expenditures by Canadian business (including agriculture), governments and institutions, excluding the cost of repairs and maintenance, amounted to slightly more than $3,000,000,000. The survey of 1949 forecasts an all-time high of capital investment estimated at almost $3,300,000,000."

Expenditures by business undertakings alone, excluding housing and Government-owned corporations, Mr. Ryan continued, will amount to $4,600,000,000 in the three years, 1947-49, assuming 1949 expectations are borne out. If repairs and maintenance are included the total would rise to $7,000,000,000.

Britain's 1948 Profits on Coal Tempered by Big Issues Ahead

LONDON, June 22 (CP).—Britain's key coal industry today reported a profit on 1948 operations but warned that "big issues" involving wages lie ahead.

The surplus for the coal-mining industry during its second year under public ownership was placed at £1,651,965 ($6,607,869). This compared with a loss of £23,255,586 during 1947—the year the mines were nationalized. That loss included a capital expenditure of about £19,000,000.

CARRIES DEFICIT

Thus the National Coal Board, which administers Britain's 1,500 collieries, carries a deficit of more than £21,600,000 in 1949.

The collieries made an operating profit in 1948 of £16,200,000 compared with a loss of £9,200,000 the previous year.

The figures were made public in a report to Parliament by the Coal Board. Production rose 10,400,000 tons to 208,500,000 tons, manpower increased by 8,000 and absenteeism fell one per cent to 11¼ per cent.

But the board said increased proceeds to collieries were largely due to price increases to the consumer and warned "costs must come down if the industry and those who live by it are not to fall on bad times."

The average cost of producing a ton of coal rose 4s 3.6d. to 45s 6.6d.

DUE TO WAGE BOOSTS

"The increase in costs was mainly due to wage improvements and the full effect was not felt until 1948," the board said.

At another point, it said "big issues" were involved in discussions which would be held between the Coal Board and the National Union of Mineworkers.

The board's insistence that costs must be cut may sharpen the possibility of conflict between the board and the mineworkers union.

Vote CAMERON AND DREW for this SOCIAL SECURITY Program

GEORGE DREW
Dynamic leader of the Progressive Conservative party, who will head a government of action at Ottawa.

GORDON CAMERON
"Canada must have a full social security plan at once, and I intend to work to that end on your behalf in the House of Commons."

THE Progressive Conservative Party plans the following benefits for every Canadian:

1. Retirement pensions at 65 without a means test;
2. Accident, sickness and disability benefits;
3. Health insurance—to include adequate medical and hospital care;
4. Extended unemployment insurance benefits—to include payment for time lost due to sickness or accidents.

Prime Minister St. Laurent said two months ago that the Liberal Government does not plan to establish contributory social security in Canada in the immediate future.

The Progressive Conservative Party says that it can and must be done at once.

Any delay in ensuring a full social security program for all will affect YOUR future.

The time to launch such a program is—NOW.

Elect a man who believes in the need for social security and who supports a party that is prepared to give you social security.

Sharply Higher Trade Licence Fees To Be Paid by City Business Firms

Most business and professional men will have to pay sharply increased trades licence fees in the last half of this year.

An amendment to the trades licence by-law passed by City Council this week permits boosts in the schedule of rates designed to swell city coffers with an additional $50,000 during the last six months of the year.

In many cases trades licence fees have been pushed to the limit allowed by an amendment to the city's private act passed in 1922.

CAN RAISE $200,000

Under the present act the city can raise a total of $200,000 per year from trades licence fees. The 1949 budget, as originally presented to council, billed city tradesmen for $150,000. With one eye on rising costs of operation and the other on new sources of revenue, council ordered the estimate hiked to the $200,000 maximum.

At the same time it was decided to seek a new private act, prior to preparation of the 1950 budget, which would wipe out the ceiling on trades licence fees.

City officials indicated yesterday, however, that business categories whose licence fees have been raised for the last half of this year would not likely face increases next year even though the ceiling is removed.

SEEK FAIR SCHEDULE

Removal of the ceiling was regarded as the first big step towards striking a fair trades licence schedule for the entire field of city business.

Under the amended schedule of trades licence fees to go into effect July 16, city officials state the following business and professional categories will be charged maximum fees: Wholesalers, retailers and contractors, operators of hired vehicles (buses), used and new car dealers, rooming-house, apartment and hotel operators, theatre owners, doctors, dentists, optometrists and solicitors, stevedores, stock and bond dealers, chartered accountants, lumber manufacturers, undertakers, and department stores.

Doctors, dentists, optometrists, solicitors and other professional men, who have been paying trades licence fees of $25 each six months will now have to pay $75 for the same period. The increase is calculated to sweep an additional $10,000 into the city treasury.

MORE ON ROOMS

Rooming-house, apartment and hotel operators who have been paying [illegible] months, now will pay $1.50 per room to bring in an additional $9,000 in the last six months of this year.

Stevedores have been paying $75. Now they will pay $150 to bring in an additional $150.

Express companies have been paying $100. Now they will pay $150, to bring in an additional $100.

Stock, bond and investment dealers have been paying minimum of $50 and maximum of $75. Now they will pay minimum of $100 and maximum of $150, to bring in an additional $900.

Chartered accountants, who have been paying $12.50 per man, now will pay $60, to bring in an additional $650.

ADDITIONAL CATEGORIES

Public accountants and bookkeepers—have been paying $12.50, now will pay $25, to bring additional $150.

Scheme to Build Houses Turned Down by Saanich

With two councillors dissenting, Saanich Municipal Council Tuesday night turned down Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation's scheme to build 152 houses on Richmond Road.

The plan, turned down previously, was up for reconsideration. The snag this time, as before, was the Government-owned corporation's proviso that taxes must be fixed at this year's figure for a five-year period.

The municipal assessor prepared a scale of taxes ranging from $57.45 for a small house with no basement to $76.04 for the largest type of house. Garbage and sewage-connections charges would have been extra.

WARNS OF RATE RISE

Reeve E. C. Warren warned that the mill rate would probably rise at least 3½ mills in the next five years.

Said Councillor E. P. Cummins: "This council has no right to pledge councils for the next five years."

The reeve noted that the houses would be partly for ex-servicemen and partly for the navy. "Why should we subsidize the navy?" he demanded. "They're getting good pay and allowances."

"It'll mean more school accommodation," he added.

"You've got to face that anyway," said Councillor Bond. "It's families and homes that make a community . . . this plan would enhance the whole community."

Councillor Bond was supported only by Councillor L. H. Passmore in supporting the housing plan.

SHACKS CONDEMNED

Earlier, the council had condemned nine beach shacks at Sinclair Road, Cadboro Bay, and gave the occupants six months to vacate. Saanich and Vancouver Island Health Unit said in a letter that the dwellings were a fire and health hazard.

Councillor Passmore raised a question: If the council tells them to get out, where will they go?

Council decided that six months was a long enough time for the families to find new homes.

Testing Strength Of the Heart

By DR. J. B. WARREN

In testing the strength of the heart the physician counts the number of beats per minute, then has the patient do a definite amount of work or exercise and then counts the number of beats immediately. The patient then sits down for two minutes and the heart rate is again counted. Thus the heart beating 72 to the minute before a given amount of work is done—say 60 steps skipping at the rate of 120 steps to the minute (double mark time)—may go up to 96 beats due to the exercise, then return to normal in 1½ minutes. This will be considered normal. If it takes more than 2 minutes to return to 72, it is not normal in strength.

Urge Election Officers To Speed Vote Figures

turning officers and their deputies are urged to do all they can to aid The Canadian Press in promptly collecting accurate returns in the June 27 Dominion election, Jules Castonguay, chief electoral officer, said today.

Special instructions aimed at bringing the Canadian people the fastest possible news of the election results were outlined by Mr. Castonguay.

In each polling station established in the locality of the returning officer's office, the deputy returning officer has been instructed to deliver his ballot-box and an accompanying envelope containing a preliminary statement of the poll to the returning officer as soon as possible after closing of the poll.

Every deputy returning officer for outlying polling stations has been instructed to telephone or telegraph the appropriate officer of the result from his poll as soon as the count is completed.

Mr. Castonguay said:

"The returning officer for each electoral district has been especially directed to prepare on election night a compilation of the votes cast in each polling station of his electoral district as the ballot boxes are received from local polling stations and as the results are telephoned or telegraphed to him from outlying polling divisions.

"This procedure will be uniform in all constituencies.

"The returning officers also have been directed to furnish the public and the representatives of The Canadian press with progressive bulletins giving the state of the poll at various intervals during the evening of polling day."

Family Allowances Fully Supported And Favored by P.C.'s Says Cameron

Emphatic denial of "charges" that Progressive Conservative Party Leader George Drew had opposed the "Baby Bonus" bill was made last night by Progressive Conservative candidate for Victoria, Gordon A. Cameron.

Speaking before a meeting in Esquimalt, Mr. Cameron branded such claims on the part of "opposition parties" as completely incorrect.

"If the Liberal party is seeking to give the electorate of this city and this Dominion the impression that family allowances will be stopped if a Progressive Conservative government is elected, they are reverting to a type of political propaganda that died out with the Nineteenth Century," he asserted.

FAVORS ALLOWANCE

Mr. Cameron said that the stand made by Mr. Drew was definitely in favor of family allowances.

"It was the pressure of the Progressive Conservative convention last year that forced the Government to increase family allowance payments to cover all the children in a family," Mr. Cameron stated.

"That same convention also pledged itself to an increase of $200 for each child in income tax exemption," he added.

In a radio broadcast in August, 1944, the Progressive Conservative leader stated that he believed the Government was "usurping" the rights of the provinces in making grants or social security payments without consulting them, Mr. Cameron remarked.

record as being in favor of every proper step being taken to encourage large and healthy families," the speaker said.

SOUND PROVISIONS

He added that Mr. Drew had also announced "we believe in sound provisions for family allowances and social security."

The party leader was also quoted as saying, "Never at any time have I or any member of my party opposed family allowances."

The Progressive Conservative candidate also took exception to a statement attributed to local Liberal party members that the Conservatives "had never failed to get Canada into a depression."

"That is a glib statement," he said. "Let's go back 20 years and examine the facts.

"The seeds that produced the greatest depression this country has ever known were sown in the ten years after the Great War," he stated. "It began in September, 1929.

"The Liberal party in Victoria, however, has suddenly discovered that the depression began in 1930, presumably on July 28, the day on which R. B. Bennett took over the duties of Prime Minister."

YEAR AFTER CRASH

"That was nearly one year after the 1929 stock market crash which most people and all economists identify with the beginning of the depression," he pointed out.

William Lyon Mackenzie King was the head of the Canadian Government for most of the period from 1921, Mr. Cameron said.

"If anyone can be blamed for the depression, it is Mr. King and the Liberal party," he stated.

"Surely our friends would not suggest that the firemen called to extinguish a blaze were responsible for setting it," he said.

Federal Aid to Province "Full Value" Says Mayhew

The Province of British Columbia is receiving full value for the money it pays in taxes to the Federal Government.

This was one of the main themes of an address by Fisheries Minister R. W. Mayhew, Liberal candidate for Victoria, addressing a meeting last night at the Seamen's Institute.

Mr. Mayhew contradicted recent statements by Progressive Conservative leaders and referred specifically to a recent speech in Nanaimo by Don Fleming, Progressive Conservative member for Toronto-Eglinton in the last House.

"Mr. Fleming said that the Dominion Government was taking $200,000,000 out of the province in taxes and returning only $25,000,000."

STATISTICS AVAILABLE

Mr. Mayhew said he didn't "mind people who haven't the facilities for knowing any better, making such statements."

But, according to Department of Finance statistics, which, he said, were available to Progressive Conservatives also, the Dominion Government actually collects $187,000,000 annually from British Columbia in taxes and pays back $220,000,000.

Referring to figures for the 1947-1948 fiscal year, Mr. Mayhew itemized Federal returns as follows: A refund of $24,000,000; family allowances, pensions, veterans' allowances, etc., $58,500,000; interest on Canadian bonds, $40,000,000; money spent in British Columbia by Federal agencies such as the Departments of Public Works, Education, Veterans' Affairs, Mines, Fisheries, Justice, National Defence, $59,000,000; purchases in British Columbia out of loans made to Great Britain, $39,000,000; unemployment insurance, $4,500,000.

Additional grants this year included $10,000,000 for dike construction; $5,000,000 for flood relief, and $1,000,000 in gold mining subsidies, and $2,500,000 for health services and hospitals in British Columbia.

"Furthermore, if British Columbia had been charged with the overhead, the amount would have been higher."

"TEN YEARS LATE"

Most of the social security measures advoted by the Progressive Conservative party have already been, or are being, done by the Liberals, said H. W. Davey, K.C., supporting Mr. Mayhew.

"They are ten years late in suggesting contributory old-age pensions," he said. "Mr. Mayhew made the proposal in 1939."

Progressive Conservatives urge "pruning" of the "bureaucrats" in the civil service, "but in the same breath, promise contributory old-age pensions."

This, together with health insurance and re-imposition of price controls, would require extension of the civil service, he said.

Chairman of the meeting was Ald. M. A. Kent.

Says C.C.F. Would Break Monopoly's Stranglehold

The stranglehold of monopoly and finance must be broken, C.C.F. Federal candidate William Caird stated last night in a meeting at Woodsworth Hall.

"We must bring key industries under public ownership and we must plan for full production and full use of our resources if we are to keep our people on the job and off the breadline," he said.

Mr. Caird accused "the other parties" of instilling "fear" of the C.C.F. as an election campaign measure rather than putting forward a constructive program.

"RED BOGEY"

"They have been able to do so because they have the backing of the large monied monopolies," he said.

"They drag out the Red bogey and all the old-time lies which are still, unfortunately, fooling the people," he averred.

Only a C.C.F. government is prepared to cope with the new foreign trade situation that has arisen, the speaker claimed.

"It is prepared to enter into agreements with the nations of the world in accordance with the ability of those countries to exchange goods," he stated.

CLEAR-CUT CHOICE

Alex MacDonald, a C.C.F. candidate for Vancouver Burrard in the recent Provincial elections, spoke in suppgrt of Mr. Caird.

"The C.C.F. welcomes the day when a coalition of Liberals and Conservatives at Ottawa will enable the people of Canada to make a clear-cut choice between those who stand for special privilege and those who stand for a peoples' democracy," he said.

"The $57,000,000 tax concession to the aluminum company during the war would never have come to light but for a vigilant C.C.F. opposition," he stated.

The speaker also claimed that "international cartel agreements" prevent important Canadian industries from exporting their products.

Says Political Rights Go Too Should Economic Freedom Die

"If economic freedom is lost, political freedom will be lost also. Economic freedom is the essence of competitive enterprise which is the foundation of our democrative system," Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C., Progressive Conservative candidate for Nanaimo riding in the Federal election, told meetings at Cobble Hill and Cowichan Station last night.

He said that history had proved competitive enterprise provided the greatest production and therefore the greatest social security. Communism was the rule of a Godless dictatorship and the negation of everything democracies believed in and sought to maintain. The Conservative party would vigorously enforce laws to combat Communistic activities.

SAYS TOO LITTLE LEFT

Hitting at the present Government, General Pearkes said it was leaving Canadians too little of their own money to save or spend in their own way.

"Exemptions must be increased and tax relief given to people of small incomes. Tax relief must also be given to small businesses so that they can grow and keep competition active, keep our free system revitalized, and maintain employment."

Speaking in support of General Pearkes at both meetings, Mrs. Margaret Harvey, president of the Victoria Women's Progressive Conservative Association said more and more women were becoming interested in parliamentry proceedings because every decision made affected the home.

LAUDS PROGRAM

"The Conservative party," she stated, "have an unbeatable social service program. The first job it intends to do when returned to office is to grant old-age pensions without the means test—this abuse has been carried on too long."

C. West, president of the Nanaimo Federal Association also spoke at the second meeting.

Young P.C.'s Campaign On Behalf Cameron

New guard on the revitalized Progressive Conservative Party did the front running for Victoria district party candidate Gordon C. Cameron, at a meeting in the George Jay School.

Reg Hayward, Jr., first speaker, attacked the Government for permitting the sale of comic books.

"Youngsters are committing suicide at 14, 12 and 10," he stated.

"The present Government has done nothing about the sort of literature that leads to this sort of thing," he claimed.

"There are as many Young P.C.'s as Young Liberals and Young C.C.F. put together," Young Progressive Conservative member Peter Forrest told the meeting.

Mr. Forrest scored the Liberal Government for its treatment of veterans and merchant seamen and its failure to provide "an adequate housing plan."

FORGOTTEN OUTPOST

Victoria was the "forgotten outpost" of Canada, another Young P.C. Vice-President [illegible] told the meeting.

"We have inadequate representation in Ottawa," he stated.

Mr. Jones was also critical of the housing situation.

Besides reviewing grounds touched by previous speakers, the P.C. candidate pledged support to ex-Imperial veterans with 20 years residence in Canada in their claim for War Veterans' Allowance.

"They are an integral part of Canada," he stated.

Mr. Cameron said that the Progressive Conservatives had "fought" since 1943 for a veterans' hospital in Victoria.

"It's no credit to Mr. Mayhew that the hospital was finally built," he stated.

Eagles Begin Public Appeal To Boost Fund

The Fraternal Order of Eagles has begun a special public appeal to bolster its Memorial Foundation fund drive now being launched throughout the North American continent.

Purpose of the fund is to give physical, medical, surgical, dental, optical and educational assistance to children of servicemen who died during the World War.

In Canada, an extensive "Mission of the Heart" seal campaign is being used. Victoria is the scene of one of many Canadian drives.

Slogan for the campaign is: "He who builds well in the life of children builds a monument to the sky."

George Goodenough, local secretary, is directing the local campaign.

Claims Money Beat C.C.F.

Seemingly unlimited funds enabled the Coalition Government to defeat the C.C.F. in the Provincial election, William Caird, C.C.F. Federal candidate in Victoria, said at a meeting.

He told the meeting on Admirals Road, that there had been no let up in the spending of money by the Coalition Government to create a fear of what the C.C.F. government might do if elected.

In speaking of the forthcoming Federal election he said: "It has been estimated that not less than $2,500,000 has been spent by the Liberal and Conservative parties in British Columbia in the election period. That would represent approximately twice as much each day as the C.C.F. has spent on the whole campaign to date."

The time will come, he said, when elections will not be dominated by the money of big business through their avenues of propaganda. "But it will not be under a Liberal or Conservative government."

Pearkes Sets Busy Schedule

Progressive Conservative Candidate for Nanaimo riding in the general election, Maj.-General G. R. Pearkes, V.C., will travel from his Brentwood home by boat today to the Bamberton Cement works to talk to employees as they break off work at noon.

At 3 p.m. General Pearkes will attend a public garden party to be given at the home of Mrs. L. Eddy, East Sooke.

ONE-EIGHTH BLOOD

The weight of blood is one-eighth that of the whole body.

Liberals, P.C.'s Accused Of Word Magic

The Liberal and Conservative parties are hiding the "bankruptcy" of their ideas behind a barrage of "high-sounding verbiage," Robert M. Strachan, C.C.F. candidate for Nanaimo, told a meeting at the Foresters' Hall, Nanaimo.

He accused them of "word magic to try and mesmerize the people into [illegible] world, when in actual fact, the world is closer to disaster now than it has ever been."

SEE TRADE PROBLEMS

The fact that the C.C.F. is "the only party in Canada today which is prepared to enter into bilateral trade agreements," should be proof of that party's awareness of trade problems, he said.

Mr. Strachan condemned housing policies of both Liberals and Conservatives.

The New Zealand Labor Government has been able to supply homes at half the cost of housing provided by "private profit-making schemes."

LETTERS RECEIVED

He said he had received letters from organizations, including the Superannuated Civil Servants, the Canadian Legion and teachers' associations, asking his stand on better housing and increased old-age pensions and veteran's allowances.

Mr. Strachan said that these points had been approved at the last C.C.F. convention and that he, as a C.C.F. candidate, would press for the carrying out of C.C.F. policy if elected.

JAM and JELLY MAKERS!

For SURE Results... Greater Yield take your choice of CERTO or "CERTO" Crystals

No fuss . . . no worry . . . no guesswork in making jam or jelly with Certo Fruit Pectin or "Certo" Crystals. You'll save time and work . . . get up to 50% MORE jam or jelly from your fruit!

Please yourself which you use. Both Certo and "Certo" crystals are fruit pectin, the natural substance in fruit that makes jams "jam" and jellies "jell" — extracted and concentrated for better, easier jam and jelly making. The word "Certo" is a trade-mark.

Boil ONE MINUTE only for both Jams and Jellies

That's all you need when you use Certo or "Certo" Crystals . . . one minute's full, rolling boil! What a saving of time and energy. This short boil gives you other advantages, too:

1. Since very little juice has time to boil away, you get an average yield of 10 glasses where old-fashioned, long-boil recipes would give you about 6.
2. Cooking time is so short it cannot spoil the fresh fruit taste or dull the lovely natural colour. They stay in your jam or jelly.

JAMS or JELLIES ALWAYS TURN OUT RIGHT

That's providing you follow exactly the kitchen-tested recipes you get under the label of every bottle of Certo or in every package of "Certo" Crystals. Different fruits need different handling so there's a separate one for each fruit. Don't change a thing and you'll get delicious, sparkling jam or jelly every time.

Next game: Tomorrow, Brentwood Aces vs. Bluebird Cafe, 6.45 p.m.

Second place was at stake in the Senior "A" Men's Softball League last night as Brentwood Aces and Chinese Students hooked up in the best game of the season. When it was over the Suburbanite lads emerged winners 5-4 in 10 innings and held a game and a half lead over the Students who fell into a tie with Timber Service for the third berth.

● ORCHIDS TO KNOTT

The accolade for the victory should go to Brentwood Manager Ron Knott, who relieved John Fournier in the top of the tenth with two runners aboard and no one out. He got two of the next three batters to pop up to the catcher and retired the third on a fly to right field. Aces got their winning run cheaply in the bottom half of the inning when Ronnie Benn led off with a single, went to second on the only Student error of the game, took third on a fielders choice and scored when Jimmy Chan uncorked a wild pitch while delivering the fourth ball of an intentional pass to "Arch" Sluggett.

It was a tough loss for Chan who had pitched his best game of the season. He allowed but eight scattered hits and took nine batters on strikes.

Fournier allowed but four hits but was bothered by control trouble, giving up nine walks. His own mates set up the first two Student runs in the first when Quinton Mar followed with a triple and brought around his retirement in the tenth when he walked the first two batters.

Aces matched Students' two first-inning tallies duplicated their marker in the seventh and deadlocked the contest in the bottom of the ninth after the Chinese had gone ahead in the top of the inning.

B.C. Electric defeated Evans Coleman and Johnson 9-5 in a senior "C" fixture at Henwood Avenue.

Dodgerettes took sole possession of fifth place in the Senior Women's League by trimming Eatons 8-2 at Lower Central.

Better Golf

By SAM SNEAD

Pictured for one excellent swing with wood. I think our player is [illegible] a bit too upright to be in perfect form, but otherwise [illegible] looking at a good swing. Notice that the level heel is raised so that the left knee (though bent) is still on an even horizontal line with the right knee. Note that point. Now remember it for this little point is all that makes possible that nice, efficient hip pivot in a very nearly horizontal plane. The tips have [illegible] about 1 [illegible] of a circle while during the same time the shoulders have made a complete quarter turn. This is good golf. The right leg is straight but not locked the left arm is straight, the wrists proper cocked and the player has kept his eyes on the ball throughout the back-swing. Master these little things and you'll start getting hot. Notice that the club shaft in this full swing has dipped just a trifle below horizontal. And that's plenty far. More will mean loss of control. The left hand is properly closed and our player is now, after a momentary pause in the position pictured ready to start the downswing. And it should be good.

Marshall, Brenner Star As Jackets, Caps Score

Bremerton's John Marshall and Vancouver Manager Bill Brenner were the featured pitchers in [illegible] game at Yakima [illegible] Bears [illegible] 14-0 [illegible] while Brenner [illegible] to a 13-0 [illegible] Marshall's [illegible] almost [illegible] him the game. Two of the Yakima runs were put on bases through errors and the second [illegible] was hit by a pitched ball. The [illegible] right-hander who won the league [illegible] with 98 [illegible] a 14-4 record [illegible] Brenner's [illegible] Lee Thomas, Lou Stanford and [illegible] Roger [illegible] the [illegible] and winning runs.

Plan Air Race To Inaugurate 1956 Olympics

SYDNEY, Australia, June 22 (Reuters). The Australian Government is considering a proposal to stage a round-the-world air race to inaugurate the 1956 Olympic Games in Melbourne, a Royal Australian Air Force spokesman said yesterday.

Each plane taking part would collect an Olympic torch at Athens and the first to land at Melbourne would be declared the winner.

The biggest hurdle for the race is Melbourne-North America-Britain-Greece and then back to Melbourne.

Know Your LIBERAL LEADERS

THE HONORABLE BROOKE CLAXTON

The Honorable Brooke Claxton, Minister of National Defence, has a real knowledge of national and international issues. No man better realizes that what happens in the world outside Canada can affect Canada and the lives of its citizens. He is a man who fully comprehends and understands modern economic and social forces.

A Montrealer, a lawyer by training and an intellectual, the Honorable Brooke Claxton has contributed articles to many North American and British publications. In collaboration with Senator L. M. Gonin, he drafted the valuable "Special Study on the Canadian Constitution" for the Rowell-Sirois Commission.

A true scholar, he is man with a fighting heart; a heart that won him the D.C.M. in World War One. His favorite sports comprise tennis, squash, badminton, golf and skiing.

He has played important roles in numbers of world organizations, and has attended various world conferences. Before he was chosen to fill the post of Minister of National Defence in 1946, he was Canada's representative at the first and second sessions of U.N.R.R.A. As Minister of National Defence, he maintains that "Our first line of defence and the object of all our policy must be to work with other nations to prevent war."

Chicago Market

LONDON, June 22 (Reuters). — Sellers were again predominant on the London Stock Exchange. A fresh bout of selling caused a further decline in the prices of British Government stocks, and resulted in losses among industrial issues. Offerings of gilt-edged issues, however, were less heavy than of late, and the market was inclined to recover in the latter part of the session. The closing tone was easy, but occasionally well above the worst.

Winnipeg Grain

WINNIPEG, June 22 (CP). — Continued dry weather across the Prairies stimulated good general demand on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, and oats and barley prices displayed a good trend. Shippers and locals were on the buying side, while offerings were light. Trade speeded up as the session proceeded. Rye moved up under American demand, resulting from the dry weather. Offerings here also were light.

CANADA NEEDS HEALTHY RAILWAYS TO SERVE HER PEOPLE

Canada's Railways mean EMPLOYMENT for over 190,000 Canadians

It takes skilled manpower and lots of it to keep the railways rolling . . . to move passengers and freight (145 million tons of it last year!) . . . to carry the essentials of life and work to every community. So it's not surprising that the railways are among Canada's biggest employers. Last year their payroll totalled $544,000,000.

Then, too, the railways are heavy buyers of so many things, from paper cups to locomotives. Their continued power to employ and to buy is therefore linked with the welfare of countless thousands of other Canadians doing all sorts of jobs in all parts of Canada. The fact is . . .

THE RAILWAYS ARE CANADA'S BIGGEST BUYERS

This advertisement is one of a series pointing out the railways' key place in Canada's economy. As Canada's largest builders of railway rolling stock and equipment, this company and its employees are directly concerned with the railway industry. Canadian Car & Foundry's eight modern plants turn out thousands of railway cars of every type, both passenger and freight. They are fully equipped to supply Canada's railways with rolling stock of the latest type to meet the growing needs of our expanding economy.

Last year they bought well over 400 million dollars' worth of goods, most of which were grown, mined and manufactured in Canada.

FUEL—For fuel alone, the railways spent $112,000,000. They are Canada's largest fuel users. Fuel is one of the largest single items purchased.

STEEL — They spent $31,000,000 for rail and track fastenings. There are 13,000 railway splices in one mile of track; and the railways operate close to 50,000 miles of track.

WOOD PRODUCTS

There are 3,000 wooden ties to every mile of track. Last year for wood products, including ties, the railways spent nearly 30 million dollars.

The railways also spent other millions for rolling stock of all types; for paper products, tickets, timetables, booklets, stationery; for food, textiles and a host of other products.

Adding taxes, duty, insurance, interest charges and other items, the railways spend close to one billion dollars a year.

Uncertain Destiny

By BETTY WEBB

CHAPTER XXV

Conversing over the telephone with Mary, Linda tried to keep her voice cool and indifferent, although her heart was pounding.

"Linda," Mary said gravely, "Phil and I would like to see you. May we come over?"

"I was planning on driving out to the farm," Linda said. "Why don't you two come along? There won't be many lovely days left. October is nearly with us."

"That's a marvelous idea. Perhaps we could have a picnic luncheon somewhere."

Linda fell in with the plan eagerly. It would be so good to forget all her problems for awhile, Mary and her husband were cheerful company, they were never than she had been for days as they left Phil's car at the farmhouse and started out on horseback through the country.

Seated on a hilltop overlooking Hillsacres, Linda relaxed in the golden sunshine and munched the chicken sandwiches Mrs. Delaney had carefully prepared for the outing.

"Bless you, my children, for suggesting a picnic," she murmured. "It's the first one I've been on in months."

"We're simple people, Philip and I," Mary answered, leaning contentedly against her husband's broad shoulder. "By the way, my worthy spouse, don't you think it's time we let Linda in on our little secret?"

Philip smiled adoringly at his wife. "I think it's a remarkably fine idea."

"Then prepare yourself, Linda," Mary's eyes were suddenly starry. "The Rom clan, meaning us, is going to initiate a new member next Summer, meaning an addition to the family. Congratulations are now in order."

"Mary—Phil! Not really!" Linda said in surprise.

"But yes, darling. Isn't it wonderful?"

"Oh, you precious people!" Linda was nearly in tears. "I'm so happy for you both. I—I never dreamed—I mean—"

"You mean you're surprised." Mary laughed. "Linda, we're both overjoyed, but I'm afraid it will spoil Dad's plans for Winter horse-shows. After today I'm giving up riding."

"Your father can get another rider," Linda said severely, "but think how proud he'll be—a grandfather!"

"And you'll be Aunt Linda," Mary said blissfully.

Aunt Linda. The color fled from Linda's face. Her eyes were tragic, as she thought, "By next Summer I'll only be a memory in the Baridon family. I'll never see them again, never know Mary's youngster or share the thrill of having a grandchild in the family."

Abruptly she rose. "It's getting late. Perhaps we'd better be getting back to the farm now."

They rode slowly, lazily, still discussing the coming event, but for Linda some of the pleasure was gone, and as they rounded the drive in the direction of the stables, Steve's cream-colored roadster flashed up the drive, stopped before the door, and Brenda Coleman stepped out!

The little party on horseback stared at her silently, and Mary whispered bitterly. "That girl! How dared Steve bring her here!"

Linda looked reproachfully at Steve. Why had he brought Brenda to their home, when only a few weeks before the other girl had called it a broken-down farm? Then Linda remembered. Soon she would be gone, and Brenda would be the hostess. It was only natural that Steve should bring his future wife to view their country home.

With that thought in mind, Linda slipped from her horse and approached the blonde model.

"Welcome to Hillsacres, Brenda," she said sweetly. "Isn't this your first visit to the farm?"

"Brenda became quite an outdoor lover while she was in Nevada," Steve said, "and she asked me to bring her out to look us over."

"Outdoor lover—nothing!" Mary hissed, and Linda silenced her with a glance. As Steve escorted Brenda toward the stables, Linda's eyes followed him longingly. It was the first time they had come face to face in days. She had been taken back by the weariness in his face, the dejected sag of his broad shoulders.

"If she's an outdoor girl, then I'm a glamour gal," Mary muttered angrily as they walked up to the house. "Did you see how she was dressed?"

In contrast to their well-fitting jodhpurs and shining leather boots, Brenda wore a softly draped frock of turquoise blue, and a wide blue hat. She might have been on her way to a fashionable garden party.

Once they were inside the living-room, Mary gave vent to her outraged feelings.

"How can Steve be taken in by that—that cheap little husky! That—"

"Hey, take it easy," Philip admonished his sputtering wife. "After all, you aren't supposed to know a thing about this."

"Oh, Linda—I do know, and I'm so terribly sorry," Mary caught Linda's hand sympathetically. "Philip and I have known for weeks that something was wrong. I can't seem to get next to Steve, though goodness knows I've tried!"

"You've talked to Steve?" Linda was astonished.

Mary nodded unhappily. "Both of us. He shuts up like a clam whenever we mention Brenda. Oh if there were only something we could do to straighten things out. It doesn't seem fair that we should be so happy when—when all the time, you and Steve—"

Mary lapsed into embarrassed silence, and a pall seemed to drop over the little group.

'Bride-Carrying Hazard Disturbs Council'

The N.Y. Safety Council has just issued a gloomy warning any romantically inclined bridegroom, determined to heft his bride over the new threshold in traditional manner, that he can do so in safety . . . ONLY IF HE MARRIES A MIDGET. In a melancholy brochure on what every bridgroom should know, the council gives detailed instructions on the safe method of hoisting the bride over the threshold if the bridegroom is fool enuff to persist in pitting his future health & well-being in such a gesture. The Council's recommendations take off with the following sentence, "One easy lesson on how to lift a bride without straining yourself," & ends up with the romantic information that the instructions are equally applicable to hoisting barrels. The council-approved way of carrying the gal over the threshold (also it is obvious that the council favors a good swift shove, or a hatpin properly applied) is as follows. "The correct way to lift an object (that would be the bride), is to bend the knees, keep the body upright, take a grip on the object to be lifted, & push upward with the leg muscles. DO NOT TRY TO LIFT TOO MUCH WEIGHT" the council concludes, in a final disapproving admonition. What is the legal limit on brides???

Does the bridegroom carry 5 ft-2,
With eyes of blue,
And just p-u-s-h the 5 ft-11
With eyes on heaven???

It would seem that these instructions leave too much to the indiscretion of the groom, a man beset by many troublesome problems, in the first flush of matrimony. The happy thot has just occurred to us, that we could add a new and special service when we sell a houseful of our furniture to young June hopefuls. We could (on request) supply a derrick lift van, as the council says it is unsafe for any bridegroom to boost across the threshold any bride weighing in excess of 75 lbs. So just think of the advantages of this new service HUMBER'S might supply. Of if the lift-crane would mess up the lawn, we could have our alternative service . . . a block & tackle. We could advertise "It is better to get the babe across with a mechanical device than make a physical wreck of the groom for the rest of his natural life." "LET HUMBER'S TACKLE YOUR PROBLEM," springs to mind as a likely slogan, for this new super-service. Just how to tie in the romantic angle "blocks" us at the moment, but I imagine, once we get this service going, & so many please, "She could swing thru the door with the greatest of ease."

You can furnish the nest with the greatest of ease at HUMBER'S FURNITURE WAREHOUSE, because we have a 3-room outfit to get you started for only 300 bux. U get a lovely davenport (real klassy lookin') and an O.K. shunal chair. A Tri-lite with all the bulbs, & a choice of koffee tables. Then a ducky dinette . . . chairs . . . OK. table (opens out to seat all the in-laws) and a glass fronted buffet. Then a beaut of a bedroom sweet, with a ribbon slat spring & a mattress jammed with coil springs. And don't forget the Van lift service, or the block & tackle . . . that . . . as we said . . . will be buckshee. Well, we have just passed on to you, in all this, the council's warning about the heft of brides or barrels, for what it may be worth to June bridegrooms. Frankly, says Inez Robb, in the Seattle P.I. "I don't think it's worth a d . . ?."

ANSWER TO YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE

According to Culbertson

In today's deal, South overlooked an outstanding play for his redoubled contract.

West, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

SOUTH

♥ K 9 2

♣ A 6 3

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
1 ♦	Pass	2 ♦	4 ♠
Double	Redbl.	Pass	Pass
Pass

North was unwise in more ways than one when he redoubled four spades. First, he could not really "hurt" the opponents if they had run to either five diamonds or five hearts; second—although this was really not North's fault!—South went down a trick for a 400-point penalty.

West could have insured defeat of the contract by opening a club, but he could scarcely know that, and it did not seem at all dangerous to lay down the diamond king. South ruffed, took out the trumps in one lead, then led a heart toward his own king. Not unnaturally, in view of the bidding, West took the trick, and his club shift settled the matter.

It was naive of South to play for the heart ace on side, especially since a far more propitious plan was available. After ruffing the opening lead, he should have entered dummy with a trump, then led the diamond jack and discarded a club on it (unless East covered). West would win and presumably shift to clubs. South would take the trick, go back to dummy with a trump, and lead the diamond ten. If East covered, South would ruff and return once more to dummy to discard his last club then and there. This would give South seven spade tricks, one diamond, one club, and one heart ruff in dummy.

It would not do East any good to cover the diamond jack, because declarer would ruff, go back to dummy, and then discard a club on the diamond ten.

THE ADVENTURES OF WILDROOT CREAM-OIL CHARLIE --- HOW TO CONTROL THE BOUNDING "MANE"

City Man Elected Head Of Island Chamber Body

NANAIMO, June 22 — Major Cuthbert Holmes of Victoria was elected president of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Vancouver Island at the conclusion of the two-day annual convention here.

Allen McLean, Campbell River, is vice-president, and George I. Warren, Victoria, secretary-treasurer.

the new executive to decide.

The convention defeated a resolution asking the Provincial Government to take over the entire costs of education.

A resolution from Shawnigan Lake in support of legalized sweepstakes and raffles for charitable purposes was passed. There were no dissenting votes. The same resolution was passed by last year's annual convention. This year's resolution asks that the matter now be pressed to a successful conclusion.

LONG DISCUSSION

Following a lengthy discussion, during which an amendment was placed before the meeting which was lost, a Nanaimo resolution asking for an amendment to the constitution, carried.

The resolution proposed changes to the constitution to make the executive council of the Island board consist of president, vice-president, and immediate past presidents of each affiliated Chamber of Commerce and Boards of Trade in good standing. The executive of the Chamber of Commerce, may at its discretion appoint five members at large to the executive of the Island board.

The convention also endorsed a Nanaimo resolution protesting against municipal councils' powers to refuse trade licences.

proving the powers of public utilities commission, was endorsed.

ENDORSE RESOLUTION

The convention endorsed a resolution from Nanaimo requesting that the Public Works Department of British Columbia, in matters of rerouting public highways through communities of Vancouver Island, to serve notice on Boards of Trade and municipal councils, to enable them to study the proposals before any definite decision is made.

A resolution from Salt Spring Island, endorsed, asks the Provincial Government to give consideration to establishment of a service between Vesuvius Bay and Crofton.

A Saanich resolution which states: The Provincial and Federal Governments are giving consideration to the building of a "speed highway" between Patricia Bay airport to connect with Victoria, and as surveys are being made along the East Saanich Road, which if effected, would require the moving back of many buildings and business establishments; and because the road is now and will continue to be a regular bus route, travel is slowed up and the proposed route would pass through many thickly populated areas and school zones; resolved that the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Vancouver Island bring all pressure to bear the proposed highway established instead, along the old Canadian National Railway grade, not now in use.

MOTION CARRIED

This motion was carried.

A resolution from Sidney asked that commercial fishing be not allowed in Satellite Channel until October 25 and continue until the end of November, unless due to unfavorable conditions, an earlier closure is deemed necessary. This was passed.

A resolution was approved from Tofino favoring immediate construction of the Sproat Lake road to Ucluelet, to bring the Trans-Canada Highway to its Western terminus at Tofino (Vancouver Island) "which is the Pacific Ocean of Canada."

Funeral Today For Pioneer Of Saanich

Funeral services will be held in Saanich today for Charles Edward King, pioneer resident of the municipality, who died Tuesday at Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Mr. King was 79 years old.

For the past 64 years he had worked for, and later owned, the

CHARLES E. KING

Cedar Hill Dairy started by his father, Henry King.

He missed few days "on the route" until the beginning of his illness last January.

He subsequently sold the business to the Royal Dairy.

A former police commissioner for Saanich, Mr. King had also been church warden at St. Luke's Church, Cedar Hill, for many years.

For more than 50 years he made regular calls at the office of The Daily Colonist to pick up copies of the newspaper for customers on his outlying milk route.

He is survived by his sister, Mrs. W. E. Heal, Royal Oak; two nieces, Mrs. J. Mycock, Saanich, and Mrs. J. P. Merriman, Cedar Hill; and three nephews, Gilbert E. and Robert Heal of Saanich and Earle Heal of Victoria.

Services will be held 2 p.m. Friday at St. Luke's Church, Rev. F. Pike officiating. Arrangements are in charge of Sands Mortuary Ltd.

Veterinarians To Meet Here For 'Shop Talk'

Canadian and United States veterinary surgeons from all over the Pacific Northwest will converge on Victoria at the end of this month to "talk shop."

Twenty-ninth annual meeting of the Northwest Veterinary Medical Association will be held in the Empress Hotel, June 28 to June 30.

Chairman on June 28 will be Dr E. H. Sproston, president of British Columbia Veterinary Medical Association. Chairman June 29 will be Dr. M. O. Mulqueeny, president of Washington State Medical Veterinary Association, and chairman June 30 will be Dr. Walter W. Weller, president of Oregon State Association.

Program will include lectures, demonstrations, discussions and films dealing with veterinary problems and new techniques.

Dr. M. I. Olsen, of Victoria, will give a demonstration of pelvic and other fractures in small animals.

Police 'Assist' In Bank 'Entry'

A bank robbery scare had city police alerted early last night when the janitor at the City Hall phoned in to report that "someone" was trying to break into the Canadian Bank of Commerce at 1601 Douglas Street.

But excitement died down when police discovered bank employee Roy Walker, 102 Niagara Street, unable to get into the building because the bank janitor had left his key on the inside of the lock.

The police got an assist on the bank "entry" when they located the janitor and let Mr. Walker in.

Name Forester To Survey Watersheds

H. J. Hodgins, of Vancouver, was appointed yesterday by the Greater Victoria Water Board to serve as consulting forester to make a preliminary survey of Sooke and Goldstream watersheds.

The appointment was made in line with a policy adopted by the board aimed at eventually putting the watersheds on a sustained yield basis of selective logging.

Following completion of the survey it is expected a permanent forester will be named to carry out the board's policy.

At the same time, the board authorized the calling of tenders for the laying of the 1,200-foot water main which is to connect the Humpback and Japan Gulch reservoirs. This is regarded as the first step in a major program to increase the water supply for the lower portion of Vancouver Island.

Cost Basis for Rail Freight Rates Urged in Transport Brief by B.C.

The British Columbia Government yesterday proposed a radical change in the fixing of railway freight rates, but its chief witness before the Royal Commission on Transportation hedged it around with a number of qualifications.

As set out in a Government brief, the proposal called for the setting of rates on the basis of the cost to the railways of hauling freight—a method which the Government contended would result in a uniform level of rates across the country. Under the present system, shippers are charged according to the value of the service given them or "what the traffic will bears."

QUALIFICATIONS

Under cross-examination, the Government's chief witness—J. E. Brown, assistant director of the Bureau of Economics and Statistics—admitted that the theory would be subject to these qualifications:

1. It might not be possible to achieve it in less than 25 years or 50 years, for fear of dislocating industries through abrupt rate changes.

2. There would have to be variations in some rates to enable the railways to meet competition and to allow for the handling of certain commodities.

PARITY POSSIBLE

But generally, Mr. Brown said, it should be possible to attain "mile-for-mile parity" in all sections of the country if the railways adopted the cost-of-service principle.

Such adoption is possible, his brief contended, because railway operating costs bear a close relation to the volume of traffic hauled. The brief's contention on this point was contrary to the general railway claim that a large portion of rail costs are constant and do not fluctuate with traffic.

Under the present method of pricing freight, the Government brief held, various regions were subject to different rate levels, and the only way to equalize them would be through Government subsidies.

But the Government opposed subsidies for this purpose, declaring they opened the door to "regional pressure; inter-regional bad feeling, and may at the same time result in distorting the economic development of the country."

The proposed new system would not take regional costs into consideration in making rates, Mr. Brown said. In cases, he said, regional costs were uniform enough to assure rate parity even if they were used as the basis.

WELCOMED BY WISMER

The Government's submission was delivered as the Royal Commission, on a country-wide investigation into national policy on transportation, began British Columbia sittings. From here it moves to Vancouver.

Before the official Government brief was delivered, Attorney-General Gordon Wismer in a brief speech of welcome to the commission, declared the time has arrived for changes in Canada's transportation set-up to enable it to keep pace with the development of the country.

The Attorney-General said adequate transportation must be provided at minimum total cost, and this cost must be apportioned equitably among regions.

Pickers Quit In Few Days, Cause Worry

Erratic pickers are bothering strawberry-growers as the table berry season nears its end.

"They want pickers who will go out and work steadily instead of coming out for a few days and quitting," E. C. Hughes, Dominion-Provincial Farm Labor Service manager in Victoria, said yesterday.

He said about 40 steady pickers are still needed.

Picking of riper, smaller berries for jam-making is now under way. Crate berries are still being picked, however.

Strawberry season will probably last for at least another week.

Growers say more rain would have produced a bigger yield. They are praying mildly for showers to stimulate raspberries and loganberries which should begin to yield in 10 or 14 days.

Arnold Ramer Elected By Association

Arnold Ramer was elected temporary president of the newly-formed Vancouver Island Branch of the Pacific Northwest Personnel Management Association at a meeting in the Strathcona Hotel.

Meryl Campbell, Roy Lund and Kenneth Martin were elected to a steering committee to organize the association.

The purpose of the association is to promote, among personnel and public relations men, a fraternal feeling, thereby obtaining, through joint effort and contribution, the best utilization of the knowledge and experience of its members.

A similar chapter of the association has been in operation in Vancouver since 1942 and now boasts a membership of more than 70.

At last night's meeting more than 25 members were addressed by Angus Campbell, president of the Pacific Northwest Personnel Management Association.

The next meeting of the association will be held in the Strathcona Hotel on Tuesday, July 12, at 6:15 p.m.

Ask Increase In Charges For Bus Tours

Five Victoria companies have applied to the Public Utilities Commission for an increase in rates charges for charter buses carrying more than seven passengers. The buses are mainly employed for sightseeing tours.

Charter rates for vehicles carrying 20 to 39 passengers are now 35 cents a mile, or $7.50 minimum, and for buses carrying more than 30 persons the rate is 40 cents a mile or a $10 minimum.

The companies are now asking 45 cents a mile, or $10, minimum for vehicles carrying up to 28 passengers; 50 cents or $12.50 for 29 to 36 passengers, and 55 cents a mile or $15 minimum for vehicles carrying more than 36 passengers.

Companies applying for the increase are the B.C. Electric, the Vancouver Island Coach Lines, Blue Line Transit, C. & C. Taxi Ltd., and Gray Line Tours, Sightseeing & Taxi Company.
